Fire Debris Bonfire Starts Another One

LYNN, Mass.—(UP)—An employee of the Raimo Construction Company started a bonfire yesterday to dispose of debris left after a $27,000 fire Jan. 27.

The wind whipped the fire out of control and ignited a Company garage, which was destroyed with loss of $8.000.

2 Top Italian Red Leaders at Cominform Meeting?

ROME—(INS)—The absence of two top Italian Communist leaders from their Parliamentary seats for several days caused speculation last night they are attending a new Cominform meeting somewhere in Europe.

Communist Chief Palmiro Togliatti has been absent from the Chamber of Deputies and his top lieutenant, Pietro Secchia, has been missing from the Senate. Communist Party Headquarters declined comment.

Observers speculated a new Cominform meeting may have been called to decide what action should be taken to oppose formation of the projected North Atlanta Security Pact and the Western moves toward the long-range United States of Europe Federation.

Court Banishes Man From Connecticut Forever

NEW LONDON, Conn.—(AP)—The Superior Court yesterday banished a Groton man from Connecticut "forever."

The exile was one of the conditions imposed for the release of the man from an insane hospital where he was confined after beating three members of a clergyman's family with a heavy furnace shaker in the dead of the night.

Judge Thomas E. Troland ruled that Cedric C. Carpenter, Jr., 28, must immediately leave Connecticut "without passing through the town of Groton" where the assault occurred May 27, 1947.

Carpenter, committed to a state hospital after his arrest, subsequently was tried on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. He was acquitted on grounds of insanity, and returned to the hospital.

Mitchum's Studio Loses Plea To Free Him

HOLLYWOOD—(UP)—Robert Mitchum's studio got turned down cold yesterday on its plea that the handsome actor be released from jail to finish a movie.

Superior Judge Clement Nye took the view that RKO-Radio Studios knew Mitchum was awaiting trial on a narcotics charge when it started the picture and should have realized the possibilities of his going to jail.

Mitchum doffed his county jail denim for the court appearance and wore the $200 gray pin-striped suit he had on when sent to jail.

"This motion is not on behalf of Mr. Mitchum, but in the interests of hundreds of innocent people who are employed with him," said noted Criminal Attorney Jerry Giesler.

Giesler's plea met a chilly reception from the judge. He pointed out that Giesler himself had asked the court to treat Mitchum like any other defendant when he came up for sentence.

Dodged Law 14 Years, Convicted in Kidnaping

NEW YORK—Liberale Parrino, 48, Brooklyn grocer who dodged the law for 14 years, was convicted yesterday by a Federal Court jury of kidnaping a French seaman nearly 15 years ago.

Although he was convicted under the Lindbergh law, the jury made no recommendation that the death penalty be imposed. Life imprisonment may be imposed under the law in the event the jury fails to recommend the death penalty.

'MOST LEARNED JUDGE'

Killer's Plea Is Granted

NEW YORK—(AP)—"Do me a favor, please, Judge," pleaded the man who killed a friend.

"Don't say what the other judges say when they sentence a guy to the chair. "Leave out the words 'May God have mercy on your soul.' Send me out with a smile."

Then Judge Carmine J. Marasco began to intone the death sentence for the prisoner, Frank Bruno, 33.

As he reached the last phrase—"May God have mercy"—the Judge's lips continued to move silently. But there was no sound in the hushed courtroom.

"Thanks, Judge; thanks very much," said Bruno as he was led away.

He is to die in Sing Sing's electric chair during the week of March 18 for the 1946 slaying of Carlo Zarcone, 27, his close friend.

Guyol Killer Missed $600 Hid in Auto

Famed Escape Artist Rushed to Cell From Alabama

Constitution State News Service

REIDSVILLE — Odie Fluker, convicted murderer and one of Georgia's famed escape artists, was delivered to Tattnall State Prison here last night, Assistant Warden D. E. Watson reported.

Fluker, who was convicted for the 1936 murder of Eddie Guyol in the Atlanta lottery "war," escaped Tuesday from the prison ward of the Battey State Tuberculosis Hospital in Rome. He was serving a life sentence, but had been moved to Battey after developing a "bad TB condition."

Floyd County Sheriff Gilmore Johnson said the prisoner was apprehended yesterday in Gadsden, Alabama.

Despite the tuberculosis, it was decided to place Fluker in Tattnall prison.

Tipped by Rome authorities to watch for a stolen car believed driven by Fluker, officers captured the Alabama-born desperado after his escape from the prison ward.

J. T. Lambert, of Rome, was the owner of Fluker's flight car. Lambert went to Gadsden immediately with Sheriff Johnson and the first thing he did was peer into the luggage compart of his car.

Sighing with relief, Lambert pulled out a heavy syrup bucket. Inside were 600 silver dollars which he had been saving for many years. His hobby is collecting silver.

Police said Fluker told them lack of cash had handicapped him in his flight and if he had known about the dollars he would have taken them and traveled less inconspicuously than by stolen auto.

Fluker, 41, was picked up 10 minutes after police at Rome telephoned the lookout notice.

Fluker was sentenced to die five times and won a commutation to life.

He escaped from the hospital Tuesday via a roof ventilator. He revealed to police that he hid out in the Rome area for two days lacking transportation and cash, but finally decided to make a break for Alabama when the weather turned cold.

So he stole Lambert's car but the owner saw him driving it off and called police. Convinced that Fluker was the thief, Rome authorities first beat the area with a posse without results, then advised Gadsden police on hearing that the car was headed west.

Gadsden is about 60 miles from Rome.

Fluker was alone and unarmed when caught. He still wore the shirt of his prison pajamas and odds and end of clothing that he said he had stolen.

He told them that he escaped because he felt he was "railroaded" to prison for a crime committed by somebody else. He has never admitted the Guyol slaying although the racketeer's widow picked him out of a police lineup as the man who came up to their car and shot her husband.

TWIN SLAYING RE-ENACTED—Herbert Hoover Gentry, holding pistol, 19, is shown in his Talladega, Ala., home in what Police Chief Willis Dean said was a re-enactment of the pistol slaying of Gentry's wife, also 19, and her friend, Mrs. Louise Deal, 23, of Rome, Ga. Nude bodies of the women were found Thursday in a cesspool in the rear of the Gentry home. No motive has been established. Hoover is partially deaf.

Boy Killed, 6 Hurt in Auto Mishaps

A youth was killed and six other persons injured in a series of automobile accidents in the Atlanta metropolitan area last night.

Jackie Lee Penick, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Penick, of 763 Cooper St., S. W., died at Grady Hospital a short time after his bicycle collided with an automobile at Crew and Little Streets, Patl. H. J. Standridge and W. E. Peacock said.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Penick, and a grandfather, Mr. Hilley, of Kentucky

Funeral arrangements will be announced by J. Austin Dillon Company.

A companion on the bicycle, Billy Crooks, 11, of 827 Washington St., S. W., was treated at Grady and transferred to Crawford W. Long Hospital. Physicians said his condition was serious.

The boys were riding a bicycle down a steep incline on Little Street, Standridge and Peacock said, while an automobile driven by Miss Lois McDaniel Hansard, of 82 Huntington Rd., N. W., was traveling north on Crew Street. The youths apparently attempted to make a left turn into Crew when they saw the automobile, the patrolmen said. Miss Hansard was booked for reckless driving-accident.

The death of Penick brought traffic fatalities in Atlanta to three—the same number for a similar period of 1948.

Marcus G. Chaffin, 59, and his wife, Mrs. Modena Chaffin, 57, of 627 West Howard St., Decatur, were admitted to Grady Hospital after an accident at Pinola Road and the Covington Highway.

Chaffin said he was attempting to make a left turn into Pinola Road from the Covington Highway when his machine collided with another auto. He suffered a fractured neck, and his wife had both pelvis bones broken, a possible broken back and internal injuries.

Mrs. Fenie Mayo, of 678 Hill St., S. E., was treated at Grady after being struck by a car at Forsyth and Luckie Sts.; Robert Dermon, of 1121 Briarcliff Rd., N. E., suffered cuts and bruises when hit by an auto at Glen Iris Dr. and Ponce De Leon Ave.; and Willie Lois Benton, 12, Negro, of 12 Glenwood Rd., was struck down by a car at Glenwood Avenue and the Covington Highway.

Armless Lovejoy Tot Promised New 'Limb'

NEWARK, N. J.—(AP)—Five-year-old Grace Purcell, who came here from Georgia to get artificial arms, will have a left arm in about two months, the Crippled Children's Hospital reported yesterday.

Dr. Henry H. Kessler, Chief of Staff of the hospital, operated 11 days ago on the child who was born with only stumps of arms ending above the elbow.

The bandages were removed yesterday from the left stump and Dr. Kessler tested the "motor," a loop of muscle which will operate her mechanical arm. "Everything is fine," Dr. Kessler said.

The youngster will remain in the hospital for a week or so before going home to Lovejoy, Ga., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Purcell. Later she will return to the hospital for a fitting of her new arm and a period of training in its use.

The hospital said her right arm is not yet sufficiently developed to permit a similar operation but the same surgery probably would be tried later.

Grace's trip to Newark was made possible by a fund started by a railroad engineer who wondered why Grace never waved like other children when he passed her home. Trainmen and newspaper readers contributed more than $4,200 for her new arms.

Strong Quake In West Area

FRESNO, Cal.—(INS)—A sharp but "spotty" earthquake, with its epicenter placed about 15 miles from Fresno, was felt yesterday throughout most of the lower San Joaquin Valley.

There were no early reports of damage.

Light fixtures swayed, dishes and windows rattled and office buildings in some areas quivered.

CAPETOWN, South Africa (UP)—John Cockett was killed yesterday when he drove his jeep into an ostrich.

Snap of Winter Due To Depart

Rising temperatures today will ease the early morning, wintry nip somewhat, but the weatherman sees showers ahead for the weekend.

Partly cloudy and warmer weather is forecast today for Atlanta. Scattered showers tomorrow though will accompany considerable cloudiness and continued warm temperatures.

Mercury readings for both days will reach a high of 66, with a low this morning of 40. Low for tomorrow 52.

Yesterday a fairly wide range of temperature was recorded when a high of 57 followed the morning low of 30 degrees.

Poles To Register For Reserve Army

WARSAW—(AP)—All men aged 23 to 49 were ordered to register for the Army Reserve yesterday by Poland's Ministry of National Defense.

Women, 23 to 36, who had previous military service were also required to register. Medical examinations were ordered for all registrants. Evaders will be subject to one year imprisonment and fines, the announcement said.

VIRGINIA HILL GETS SPOTLIGHT

Lights, curtain, action—Virginia Hill takes the national spotlight in Sunday's American Weekly Magazine. She's a cinderella girl who grew up near Kennesaw Mountain and Marietta, Ga., and developed her tastes to the tune of $200,000 a year and her friends from the underworld.

Look for her true story this Sunday in The American Weekly, the magazine with the greatest weekly circulation in the world, distributed in Georgia only by The Atlanta Constitution.

Chief Foster, Of DeKalb, Succumbs

DeKalb County Police Chief Edward L. Foster, 51, widely-known law enforcement officer and veteran of both World Wars, died yesterday at Lawson Hospital after an illness of several months.

Foster had been with the DeKalb Police Department for more than 17 years. He was named Chief in March, 1946.

A native of Winder, he was a member of the Georgia State Guard when the unit was mustered to the Mexican border in 1914. He also was with American forces which put down revolutions in Santo Domingo and Haiti.

In 1916 Foster enlisted in the Marine Corps and after training at Parris Island was stationed for six months in the West Indies. He later was with the Sixth Marine regiment during World War I and saw combat in many sections of France.

In 1920 Foster married and began police work at Highland Park, Mich. He served with the Police Department at Trenton, Mich., and was chief at Flat Rock, Mich. He joined the DeKalb force more than 17 years ago and in 1938 was made captain.

When the World War II got under way Foster took a leave of absence in 1942 and enlisted in the Navy. He was assigned chief master at arms at the Atlanta Naval Air Station.

He was a member of the Decatur Elks' Club, the Harold Byrd Post of the American Legion, a charter member of Greenfield Lodge, F. & A. M., and the Decatur First Baptist Church.

Foster resided at 415 West Ponce de Leon Avenue, in Decatur.

He is survived by his wife.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by A. S. Turner & Sons.

15 Protestant Leaders in Sofia Charged With Treason

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The United States ordered yesterday the expulsion of a Hungarian diplomat and charged the Communists are attempting to smash religious freedom in Europe.

The expulsion was in retaliation for the ejection of two American representatives from Hungary during the recent trial of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty.

Pope Pius XII will hold a consistory Monday morning in Vatican City at which he is expected to denounce the life sentence given Cardinal Mindszenty in Budapest.

In Sofia 15 Protestant ministers and officials have been charged with treason, violation of currency laws and spying for Britain and the United States. The arrests were sharply denounced by the U. S. State Department, and in London, a spokesman for the British Foreign office said:

Gov. Talmadge Rejects Compromise On Road Board; Jekyll Plan Seen

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Appointment of a politically nonpartisan self-perpetuating board to make Jekyll Island self-supporting is anticipated in a House bill to create a Jekyll Island State Park Authority, Rep. Iris Blitch, Chairman of the Properties Committee, said last night.

Simultaneously, Gov. Talmadge said he would ask the Legislature to create a constitutional highway board, instead of accepting the compromise plan between the proposals of Talmadge and Sen. Knox Gholston. Administration leaders plan a caucus this weekend to try to reach an agreement.

House Floor Leader Frank Twitty disclosed last night that the General Assembly will be working through next Saturday. It appears impossible to finish up by Friday, as legislative leaders hoped, but Twitty says the House will be ready to adjourn on Saturday.

The names of Dean Ramundo de Ovies, prominent Atlanta minister and author; M. F. Brice, of Vidalia; Dr. Leaphart, of Jesup, and others were mentioned in House committee meetings for appointment to the Jekyll Island Authority. There was some talk of putting the names of the appointees in the bill. The present bill calls for appointment by the Governor for staggered terms.

When a member's term expires, the remainder of the board would nominate five persons and the Governor would pick one of them as the successor.

The Jekyll Island bill probably will come up for action in the House Monday, after the Properties Committee twice recommended its passage yesterday.

The double action by the Committee came when Rep. Bernard Nightingale, of Glynn County, protested the original recommendation on the grounds that he and some other members of the committee had not been notified of the meeting. At Nightingale's request, the bill was sent back to the committee. Nightingale suggested that the committee meet Monday.

Fearing the bill might die because of insufficient time for action next week, other committee members urged a second meeting yesterday, Mrs. Blitch said. Efforts to locate Nightingale failed, she reported. The committee met in the House Chambers and again recommended passage of the bill.

"The committee is anxious to get the bill on the floor so it can be acted upon this session," Mrs. Blitch commented. "The merits and demerits of the plan can be aired fully on the floor of the House."

Grand Jury Frees Fulton Of Threatened Tax Hike

Likelihood of a tax increase by Fulton County this year was virtually eliminated yesterday when the Grand Jury declined a proposal by the County Commission to increase taxes by two mills for public welfare.

"We frown," said the jury, "upon any plan designed to increase taxes and suggest that a vigorous campagin be conducted to effect economics that would balance the budget."

The Grand Jury's statement was contained in a letter by its secretary, C. W. Bandy, to County Mgr. A. E. Fuller.

The County Commission received the letter during a day-long meeting during which it discussed various budget cuts which would bring expenditures in line with anticipated revenues. The anticipated deficit has been tentatively reduced to half a million dollars, but no definite budgetary action was taken yesterday owing to the absence of Commissioners I. Gloer Hailey and Jack Towns.

The Commissioners present, Chmn. R. L. (Shorty) Doyal, Jim Aldredge and Tom Camp, did approve a proposal by Atlanta Councilman James Jackson that the county ask the Fulton legislative delegation to withdraw a county bill permitting the county to develop a waterworks system and to substitute an amendment to the city charter permitting the city to extend its mains into unincorporated areas and assess abutting property owners for the cost.

Probes Report Of Pre-Attack Red Spy Ring

Special to The Constitution

WASHINGTON — The House Committee on Un-American Activities went into a secret huddle for three hours yesterday with Army and Navy intelligence officials and Atty. Gen. Clark in the wake of the Army's sensational report on a pre-Pearl Harbor Soviet spy ring in Japan.

The meeting was officially described as an attempt to co-ordinate the activities of the Committee with the Executive Department's investigating agencies.

But R. Adm. T. B. Inglis, Chief of Naval Intelligence, told reporters "a highly classified (restricted) subject" was discussed, and he refused any comment. Maj. Gen. S. Leroy Irwin, Chief of Army Intelligence, admitted the spy report was mentioned but it was learned he had asked not to be questioned about some of its phases.

Committee members were known to be interested in reports that certain portions of the report had been suppressed. They noted there was but brief mention in the report of warnings relayed to Mossow by a Russian-born German, Dr. Richard Sorge, concerning Japan's war plans against the United States, just prior to Pearl Harbor.

The report, as made public, did not mention a probable attack upon Pearl Harbor. It stated only that the Russian spy informed his superiors in 1941 that Japan would not attack Russia in that year but "before the year was out" would attack southward against the United States and Great Britain in the Pacific.

The attention of committee members had been called to an article written by Alfred Kohlberg, Chairman of the American China Policy Association, in the May, 1948, issue of the anti-Communist magazine, Plain Talk. Kohlberg, asserting he had read the entire, unexpurgated report.

Make MacArthur Apologize, Woman Asks

NEW YORK — (UP) — Agnes Smedley, accused in an Army report of having been a Soviet agent in China, asked President Truman yesterday to order Gen. MacArthur to apologize or to remove the General from ammunity so she could sue him for libel.

A report from MacArthur's headquarters released Thursday said that Miss Smedley, an authoress and former newspaperwoman, worked with a Soviet espionage ring in China.

Miss Smedley appealed to Mr. Truman for help in clearing her name. She said the Army report was "as much of a red herring as the statements of the House Committee on Un-American Activities which you denounced during the recent campaign."

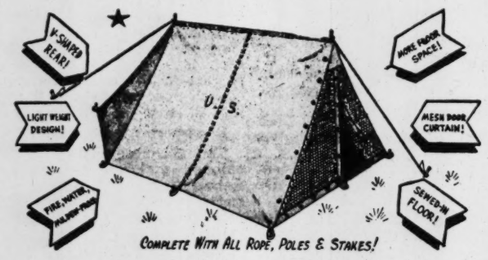

Appeals Court Rules Power Co. Suit Okay

The Georgia Court of Appeals has ruled that Mrs. Ethel Deese, of Albany, was entitled to sue the Georgia Power Company for the death of her husband last fall.

Mrs. Deese sued the Power Company for $34,562, after her husband drowned while fishing in the Flint River below the Georgia Power Company dam.

Mrs. Deese charged the Power Company's employees were negligent when they opened flood gates without warning, thereby capsizing a canoe in which she and her husband were fishing.

CENTRAL GROUP MEETS

Improvement Body Hears of '49 Projects

Outline of three major 1949 projects, election of officers and reports of the past year's activities marked the annual meeting yesterday of the Central Atlanta Improvement Association.

Activities for the year center around movements to improve downtown store fronts, Christmas decoration of parts of Peachtree Street, and publication of a detailed central Atlanta map to be given residents and visitors.

The organization re-elected as officers: Fred Moore, President; William T. Healey, Hugh I. Richardson, and Ward Wight, Vice Presidents; R. Clyde Williams, Treasurer, and Clark E. McDonald, Executive Vice President. George Mew was added to the roster of the Executive Committee, and Mills B. Lane, Jr., was named as a director, when members of both bodies were re-elected to serve again.

Councilman Douse Donaldson, Chairman Public Works Committee, in a talk said the resurfacing of certain downtown streets, widening of sidewalks with all trolley stops at the curb, and removal of unsightly downtown signs, head the list of projects contemplated or now in process by the City of Atlanta.

Reports by President Moore and Executive Vice President McDonald showed progress in the fields of highway and traffic improvements, repair of sidewalks, use of mercury vapor lighting for street lights, TB X-ray survey, and co-operation with other organizations in projects to better downtown Atlanta.

Meeting in the Board of Directors room of the Trust Company of Georgia, the members adopted a motion to "take such steps as necessary to bring the matter of a contemplated Fulton County tax raise to the attention of the proper officials concerned." Continued co-operation and aid will be given to the study of downtown traffic problems and off-street parking facilities.

Fall Victim's Condition Critical

Grady Hospital authorities last night reported the condition of Peter David Coffee, injured Thursday night in a fall during the Holiday on Ice performance at Municipal Auditorium, as "still critical."

Coffee, 50-year-old resident of Forest Park, had been holding up one of his daughters, Teresa, 13, so that she might have a better view of the show when he grew tired and decided to rest on a concrete wall overlooking a 35-foot airshaft. Losing balance, he plunged down the shaft, suffering a possible skull fracture and other injuries.

Another daughter, Helia, 15, was a witness to the tragedy. Her screams of "Daddy," when Coffee fell, aroused many spectators who rushed to his aid. Most of the several thousand persons witnessing the show weren't aware of the tragedy, however.

Oyster Boat Burns; 5-Man Crew Rescued

PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss.—(AP) Five men were rescued uninjured yesterday when an oyster dredging boat burned and sank a quarter of a mile offshore in Mississippi Sound.

The boat was owned by the Dorgan Packing Company of Biloxi.

Deputy Inspector Frank Gazzo of the Mississippi Seafood Commission, said the crew was taken off by a Commission patrol boat under the command of Tom Moody.

C. H. Sims, of Rosalis & Sims Packing Company here, said cause of the fire was undetermined, but it was believed a gas tank had exploded. Sims said the craft had just left the harbor on an oyster dredging trip.

Names of the crewmen were not immediately learned.

THEFT OF DEPUTY'S CAR YIELDS TERM

The man who stole the automobile of Dep. Sheriff O. C. Puckett will have from three to five years to reflect on his mistake.

Donald Holcombe, of 972 Pryor St., S. W., pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge E. E. Andrews and received that sentence. Puckett emerged from a store on Trinity Ave., S. W., on Jan. 29 just in time to see Holcombe driving away with his car. He gave chase in the car of a friend, Cleve Hicks, Trinity Avenue merchant. Puckett and Hicks overtook Holcombe at the corner of Pryor and Richardson Streets, S. W.

Aderhold Is Named GEA Head

Dr. O. C. Aderhold, of Athens, Dean of the College of Education at the University of Georgia, was elected President of the Georgia Education Association without opposition at the eighty-second annual convention here yesterday.

He will succeed J. Gorham Garrison, of Ochlochnee.

Dr. Aderhold, who was nominated first by Miss Ruby Anderson, of Athens, was described as "the father of Minimum Foundation Program of Education and the man best fitted to see the program carried through."

"He is," Miss Anderson said, "a man of great professional experience, strong professional ethics, a Christian gentleman and a Democratic leader."

A native of Lavonia, Dr. Aderhold received his B.S. degree in agriculture from the University of Georgia in 1923, his M.A. degree from the University in 1930 and his Ph.D. degree from Ohio State University in 1938.

Dr. Aderhold began his career as a teacher of vocational agriculture at a high school in Jefferson in 1923, and three years later was made Superintendent of Jefferson schools. After three more years, he was made Associate Professor of Vocational Education at the University of Georgia. And in 1946 he was appointed to his present position as Dean of the College of Education.

Gov. Talmadge, in an address to the group, pledged the educators he would work closely with them on behalf of all measures designed to enlarge and improve Georgia's program of education.

He also expressed confidence that when the Minimum Foundation Program is passed by the Legislature "it will be fair and just to all groups, without favoritism being shown to any phase or branch of education."

New Directors of the GEA elected yesterday include: L. C. Perry, of Glenville, First District; Harvey C. Cutts, of Greenville, Fourth District; Howard Bridges, of Valdosta, Eighth District; R. G. Williams, of Americus, Third West District; and Miss Maggie Jenkins, of Milledgeville, Sixth District.

Delegates elected to represent the GEA at the convention of the National Education Association are: V. E. Glenn, First District; Mrs. Hazel Lewis, Second District; Miss Pauline Smith, Third District; R. G. Williams, Third West District; W. W. Keeler, Fourth District; Mrs. C. C. Blaisdell, Fifth District; T. A. Carmichael, Sixth District; Miss Johnnie Williams, Seventh District; George Garrard, Eighth District; J. P. Crow, Ninth District, and Rupert Langford, Tenth District.

J. Harold Saxon, Executive Secretary, stressed the importance of co-operation and strong leadership in making the Minimum Foundation Program a success.

J. L. Yaden, Executive Secretary of the Teacher Retirement System, said the system was in "good financial condition," but stressed that more benefits "should be provided in the future by an increase in State appropriations for this purpose."

Russian Claim to Antarctic Rights Asked by Other Nations Interested

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW—(AP)—Soviet Russia probably will make an official declaration shortly of what she considers her rights and interests in the Antarctic, icy storehouse of potential mineral wealth.

The All-Union Geographic Society had asked for such a declaration to foreign powers interested in the Antarctic and the request was given major attention in the Soviet press yesterday. The official Soviet News Agency Tass distributed it.

Newspapers reported a possibility the region holds uranium, which is used in making atomic bombs.

The United States, Britain and France, the Western members of the Big Four, are among the powers interested in the Antarctic Others are Norway (which is studying the idea of joining the projected North Atlantic Alliance), Australia, New Zealand, Argentina and Chile.

Soviet Antarctic claims are based on discoveries by Russian explorers dating back 130 years. The point is made here that the Russian explorer Fadaei (Fabian) Bellinghausen and Lt. Michael Lazarev, sent out by Alexander I in 1819, disproved a number of theories of other Antarctic explorers such as British Capt. James Cook, who set out in 1772 on a two-year expedition.

(Cook crossed the Antarctic Circle for the first time in recorded history in his 462-ton Resolution but his most southerly discovery of land was an island on the temperate side of the 60th parallel between the Cape of Good Hope and what is now known as Graham Land. He convinced himself that if land lay farther south it was inaccessible and of no economic value. The Russians who followed him, assigned to circumnavigate the Antarctic area, had better luck with the pack ice and found several islands.)

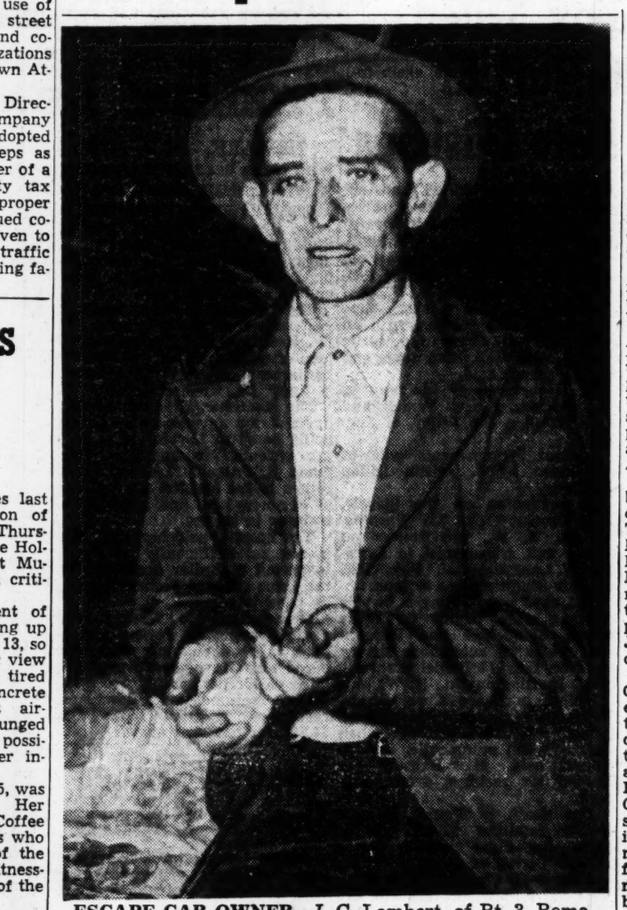

The All-Union Geographic Society made its request at a meeting in Leningrad.

C. S. Berg, President of the Geographic Society, said the U. S. State Department had announced official talks with Britain, British Dominions, France, Norway, Argentina and Chile on some administration for international control of the Antarctic. Tass said attempts to decide Antarctic questoins without Russia would "arouse the decisive protest of the Soviet public."

(The State Department proposed international control of the area last September to nations claiming parts of the Antarctic. Its aim was to settle conflicting claims and provide for divisions of the area's natural resources. Russia was not invited. The proposal, however, was rejected by most of the group. A British foreign office spokesman said Friday only Britain had approved. He said the Russian suggestion for an international talk on the problem is "outdated.")

Along with these developments came an announcement that Russia has renewed her scientific work in the Antarctic since the end of the war. A Soviet whaling expedition, including scientists, is now in Antarctic waters.

Pres. Berg was quoted by the government newspaper, Izvestia, as saying: "The Antarctic continent, exceeding Europe in size, has deposits of very valuable minerals—coal, gold, silver, lead and iron. There is a possibility also of the location of uranium ores."

Northern Irish parliamentary candidates favoring continued union with Britain won a substantial majority of seats in an election here.

At the Hague, Dr. E. W. Sassen, Dutch Minister of Overseas Territories, resigned because of cabinet disagreement over the Netherlands policy for Indonesia. There were rumors of an impending government crisis. With only four days remaining before the expiration of a UN deadline for agreement on an interim regime in the Indies, it appeared to observers in Batavia, Java, that the whole Dutch-Indonesian dispute is headed back for the UN Security Council.

A Yugoslav representative told deputy foreign ministers of the Big Four Powers meeting in London that his country is ready to join in a search for agreement on "basic unsettled questions" in the still unwritten Austrian independence treaty.

An informed source close to the Israeli delegation on the Island of Rhodes said an Egyptian-Israeli armistice for Southern Palestine "is certain to be signed," probably within a week. The UN is seeking to bring about the armistice.

CARE Ends Hungary Relief

NEW YORK—(AP)—CARE, overseas relief distributing agency, has cut off shipment of food and clothing parcels to Hungary.

The agency said its agreement with the Hungarian Communist Government had expired, and that efforts to negotiate a new agreement had been unsuccessful.

CARE said "no political considerations" on its own part were involved in the suspension of its services to Hungary, or in the failure to reach a new agreement. No elaboration was given.

Cattle, Timber Viewed As Georgia's Coast Need

Development of cattle and timber crops in Middle Georgia is a necessity if the coastal regions expect to greatly expand their industrial resources, Frank A. Albert, Assistant Regional Forester of the U. S. Forestry Service, said yesterday.

In an address before members of the Board of Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, Albert told the group soil conservation through timber, agriculture and cattle crop expansion was necessary to build up adequate water supplies to meet this industrial development.

Frank A. Albert

Albert displayed a series of charts which showed how soil erosion, overgrazed pastures and lands devoid of timber prevented industrial water from infiltrating into the soil. Without this infiltration, he said, ground water was inadequate to build up reservoirs for the artesian wells of the coastal regions.

The forestry official predicted that Georgia soon would become one of the leading cattle and timber producing states. He said great strides along these lines have been made in the past 15 years.

Albert said he expected work to begin in July on the Coosa Flood Control project in North Georgia, which would provide greater fire protection for the unprotected timber areas of that section. He said the program would be financed by Federal and State funds and administered by State Forester Ray Shirley.

Gets 6 to 8 Years In Crash Death Of 4 Atlantans

Howard T. Johnson, 24, of 900 Jefferson St., who was indicted for the murder of four men killed in an automobile wreck, yesterday pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter before Judge Virlyn Moore and was sentenced to serve six to eight years.

Johnson appeared in court with an arm still in a cast and still suffering from other injuries sustained in the crash on Northside Drive the night of Aug. 19.

According to the police, Johnson drove his car at high speed into another vehicle waiting for a light to change at the Collier Road intersection. Three men were killed outright in the collision and another died of his injuries the next day.

Two of the victims were in each car. The two in Johnson's car were Edward E. Sumner and Ernest Edwards. The two in the other car, driven by T. H. Bowman, of 1151 Moreland Ave., were Raleigh J. Steele and Troy C. Mangham.

Fire Damages Store, Market

Fire yesterday damaged a two-story brick building at 162 and 164 Decatur St., S. E., housing the Building Hardware Store and Franco's Market.

Sgt. J. W. Thornton said the fire was confined to the second story which was used for storage space. Both the building, store and market were damaged by water.

Senate Passes 3 Forest Fire Protection Bills

By ALBERT RILEY

The Georgia Senate yesterday passed three measures aimed at extending and improving forest fire protection throughout the State, one of Gov. Talmadge's campaign pledges.

Sponsored by Sen. C. R. Mason, of Madison, they were House bills designed to:

1. Extend Statewide forest fire protection received now only by co-operating counties. (A $775,000 appropriation for the Forestry Department in the regular budget includes $500,000 over last year's Forestry appropriation, and the extra funds are primarily for forest fire protection).

2. Abolish the Forestry Department and set up a Forestry Commission in lieu thereof, with the Commission to be composed of five members appointed by the Governor, two board members to be consumers and three to be producers of forest products.

3. Create a Fire Emergency Committee of the Governor, Directors of Forestry, State Patrol, National Guard, Highway, Wildlife and Welfare Departments, and permit the Forestry Department or Commission to obtain equipment from the Highway Department to fight forest fires in emergencies.

Similar legislation has already been introduced in the Senate, passed and sent to the House.

The only debate on the measures yesterday came when Sen. Roy LeCraw sought to place a ceiling of $6,000 on the salary of the Forestry Director the Commission would be empowered to hire. A compromise was reached on a substitute amendment by Sen. Glenn Florence, of Douglasville, to limit the Director's salary to $7,500.

Two of the measures now go to the Governor for his signature, but the Senate must okay the amendment to the Forestry Commission bill placing a ceiling on the Director's pay.

As the Senate moved toward early adjournment for the weekend, with barely a quorum, these additional House bills were passed:

1. To permit the employees of the State Department of Audits to come under the merit and retirement system.

2. To create a Code Commission to revise the 1939 Georgia code and bring it up to date. The Committee will be composed of the Lieutenant Governor, Speaker of the House, Attorney General, a Supreme Court Justice, a Court of Appeals Judge, the Chairman of the Judicial Council, and three attorneys to be named by the Governor.

3. To require that a member of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation shall have served 12 months in the uniformed division of the State Patrol or three years as a law enforcement officer.

4. To amend the Corporation Charter Act of 1938. This bill, Sen. Howard Overby explained, was merely a clarification measure urged by Secretary of State Ben Fortson.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO GEORGIA—216!

Georgia is 216 years old today.

Gen. Oglethorpe and his colonists landed at Yamacraw Bluff on Feb. 12, 1733. Today this is part of the City of Savannah.

Georgia Day is a "special day" but not a State holiday.

House Passes 9 Bills Affecting Muscogee

The Georgia House yesterday passed nine bills raising salaries for Muscogee and Columbus court officials and making other changes in local government.

A 10 percent salary raise was approved for the City Court judge and solicitor, Municipal Court judge, clerk and marshal and Superior Court judge.

Another bill raising the Superior Court solicitor still is pending.

Other measures created a Muscogee County Fire Department, a Planning Board and changed the dates and hours of Columbus' city election.

All the bills went to the Senate.

Pittman Mad at Nobody: 'Go to Hell' Just a Joke

Sen. Claude Pittman, of Cartersville, isn't mad at anybody. He was so recorded in the State Senate yesterday.

On Thursday the Senator had vigorously opposed passage of a Senate substitute to the House-approved voters reregistration and qualification bill.

When the measure was passed a discussion ensued as to when to send it to the House for approval. Sen. Pittman jokingly moved that the bill not only go to the House but also "go to hell." He later withdrew his motion and apologized to the Senate.

The Senator's "go to hell" remark was accurately reported in a Constitution story, but it was not pointed out that the Senator was acting in fun.

Pittman arose to a point of privilege on the Senate floor yesterday to point out that his "go to hell" comment was not serious.

"I am not mad at anybody," Pittman said, "I was licked, and the other side had as much right to their opinion as I did."

He added that he hadn't been mad at anybody during the entire session.

"You mean, don't you Senator," joshed Sen. Cecil Roddenberry, of Nahunta, "that you haven't been mad at anybody in this SENATE?"

Roddenberry's remark was a kidding reminder that Pittman had been involved in a fight in a Capitol corridor several days ago with youthful Rep. Bobby Lee Cook, of Chattooga County.

After more kidding of Pittman, the Senate moved to amend its journal to insert the word "jokingly" in his "go to hell" motion of Thursday.

Ulrich Warns City Against Complacency

Atlanta received a warning against "civic complacency" yesterday from W. Roy Ulrich, General Manager of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

In a radio address in behalf of the Chamber's "Keep Atlanta Ahead" program, Ulrich and Frank K. Shaw, the Chamber's Industrial Engineer, declared new firms which recently decided against locating in Atlanta had combined pay rolls which would have more than tripled new business actually brought to Atlanta last year.

Firms refused to locate here because of present tax systems, lack of sufficient dependable water, lack of available factory space, and housing and office shortages, Chamber officials said.

"The $6,000,000 in new pay rolls that we did get seems a substantial increase to our economy," Shaw said, "until you consider the $12,000,000 to $18,000,000 we did not get!"

Reasons given by industrialists for not locating in Atlanta were important factors in preparation of the Chamber's 31-point, 10-year program to "Keep Atlanta Ahead."

Social Workers Hear Field Chief

Workers in Family Service Societies throughout the South are striving earnestly for "the most up-to-date knowledge in the field of human relationships," Miss Helen Montgomery, Field Consultant in the Southern Region, Family Service Association of America, said here yesterday.

Miss Montgomery came to Atlanta to confer with delegates to the three-day annual meeting of executives from Societies in 25 Southern cities. The group yesterday re-affirmed its belief that social workers should have six years of college training.

With a motto of "first aid to failing families," Societies have as their goal helping family groups to solve real and practical problems. The Atlanta conference delegates are planning a 10-day institute on child guidance and family problems, to be held in June at Blue Ridge, N. C. The Atlanta meeting will end today at noon.

Orr Explains Aviation Laws

Lawyers attach needless mystery to laws dealing with aviation, George W. Orr said last night at the monthly meeting of the Lawyers Club. Orr is director of claims for the United States Aviation Underwriters, of New York.

He said that many people, including lawyers, believe airlines are responsible for all accidents that occur in the air. Only in cases where negligence is apparent is the airline responsible, as in other means of transportation, Orr said.

The greatest difficulty, he said, is the conflicting laws of States as to what constitutes negligence.

He stressed the comparative safety with which the air traveler now travels. The American Airline has a record of only 1.2 deaths per 100 million air miles in 1948.

Walker, of Grady, HeadsHospitalChiefs

Fred M. Walker, assistant superintendent of Grady Memorial Hospital, has been named regional chairman of the American College of Hospital Administrators.

Two other Georgians, George P. Burt, superintendent of Piedmont Hospital here, and J. B. Franklin, administrator of Archbold Memorial Hospital at Thomasville, were appointed to a committee of hospital executives from seven Southeastern states which will assist Walker.

The College, a professional society, is sponsoring a $500,000 educational program designed to raise the level of hospital administration and public health. It has a membership of more than 1,600 hospital executives in the U. S. and Canada.

House Votes Bill Cued To Cut Fulton Divorces

A bill designed to reduce divorces in Fulton County was passed by the House of Representatives yesterday, along with a number of other uncontested local bills.

A controversial rider on one uncontested local bill—a rider which would have made City Recorder Luke Arnold the Chief Traffic Judge until Dec. 31, 1953—nearly slipped through the House unnoticed yesterday. Rep. H. O. Hubert, of DeKalb County, caught it, however, and eliminated this rider from the Senate-passed bill permitting the City of Atlanta to sell or lease portions of Lakewood Park.

Reps. Luther Alverson and Jesse Walton, of Fulton County, and Pierre Howard, of DeKalb, had sought to pass a bill for Arnold. Reps. Muggsy Smith, of Fulton, and Hugh McWhorter and Hubert, of DeKalb, had objected, however, and thought the measure was dead until the rider came to the House Clerk's desk yesterday.

The House passed a bill permitting Fulton Superior Court judges to refer divorce cases to the Juvenile Court for investigation. Proponents of the legislation said it would reduce divorces by permitting the Juvenile Court to fully protect the interests of the children of parents seeking divorces.

Rep. Alverson introduced a bill to permit the City of Atlanta to assess costs of laying water mains on each side of the road outside the city limits to owners of the property. The assessments could be made if 51 percent of the property owners requested the water mains.

The House approved a bill raising the pay of the Fulton County Ordinary to $8,000.

Other Fulton bills passed are as follows:

Permit tax collector to collect any fees assessed by the County.

Permit East Point to annex Egan Park community, and also to annex two other small parcels of land.

Permit East Point to increase its tax rate to 15 mills, and another bill to permit East Point to assess sewer costs to property owners.

Permit Palmetto to increase its property tax from 10 to 15 mills.

Permit East Point to construct a veterans home.

East Point omnibus bill.

College Park omnibus bill.

Permit Fulton County Commissioners to fix the number of persons on the park and recreation commission.

Permit the City of Atlanta to sell a portion of the waterworks property.

Raise the pay of assistant and deputy solicitors-general of the Fulton County Criminal Court to $6,000 and $6,564.

Permit the microfilming of certain documents by the Fulton Superior Court Clerk.

The House passed a bill permitting DeKalb County to use voting machines and to set the voting hours between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m.

It also passed a DeKalb local bill permitting that County to issue revenue certificates on its sewer system and to assess the cost of sewer improvements on property owners.

New bills were introduced to permit East Point to annex parcels of property near Sylvan Road and Lakewood Avenue.

100 MAKING 'INSPECTION'

Solons Seeing Tennessee On Chattanooga Choo Choo

A trainload of Georgia legislators left their "law-making headaches" behind yesterday to make an inspection trip on the State-owned Western & Atlantic Railroad.

Some 100 Senators and Representatives were aboard, as the special Chattanooga-bound train pulled out of Union Station.

Rep. Jim Evitt, of Catoosa County, Chairman of the W. & A. Railroad Committee, said the group not only would inspect improvements on the railroad between here and Chattanooga but also property owned by the State of Georgia in Chattanooga.

He explained that the railroad, leased to N. C. & St. L., brings Georgia $540,000 cash and $60,000 in improvements annually.

W. A. Swindell, Division Superintendent of N. C. & St. L., who has made the Chattanooga junket with legislators more than 20 times, went along again as unofficial chaperon.

The legislators were entertained last night—and will be again today—at various parties in Chattanooga. Several frankly predicted that their "inspections" might extend beyond State property.

There will be no special train back to Atlanta. Each solon will return according to his own schedule. Some, like Rep. Alex Boone, of Wilkinson County, were planning side trips.

"I'm not as much interested in the railroad," he admitted, "as I am in going to see Andrew Jackson's home—The Hermitage—in Nashville. I'm hoping to go on up to Nashville, just because I think Jackson was the greatest President this country has ever had!"

Houlihan Quits State Ports Board

J. J. Houlihan, of Savannah, yesterday resigned as a member of the State Ports Authority, Gov. Talmadge announced.

Houlihan said his resignation was caused because of pressure of other business. Talmadge has not announced a successor.

Three Chatham-Backed Bills Passed by House

Three bills sponsored by the Chatham delegation passed the Georgia House yesterday and went to Governor Talmadge.

They changed the name of Armstrong Junior College to Armstrong College, created a Chatham County Recorder's Court, and reenacted a bill establishing a Bridge Commission.

4-Year-Old Hit by Truck

Four-year-old Hoke Sullens, Jr., was admitted to Emory University Hospital in critical condition yesterday after being struck down by a truck near his home on Stevenson Road, DeKalb County police reported.

The driver of the truck, Robert H. Ingram, of 760 Magnolia St., was held without bond in the DeKalb jail pending outcome of the child's condition. Patrolmen said the truck skidded for 80 feet before striking the child and continued for 40 feet after the impact.

Bergen on CBS Next Autumn

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting system announced yesterday Edgar Bergen would be heard over CBS next Fall on Sundays at 8 p.m. EST.

Hamilton Gives Credit To Housing

WASHINGTON — George B. Hamilton, Georgia State Treasurer, told Senators yesterday that the public housing is one of the reasons why tax revenues in his State have increased four times in 16 years.

Hamilton testified in favor of a national housing bill before the Senate Banking Committee. He is President of the National Association of Rural Housing.

"Georgia does not owe a single dollar," Hamilton said after explaining there has been a "tremendous increase in State tax income" since he took over the Treasurer job in 1933.

The said State tax income in 1933 was $28,000,000 and last year amounted to $112,000,000.

Part of this gain resulted from liquor taxes when Georgia became wet and part resulted from general wartime expansion, he said, adding:

"And another factor has been public housing. I believe we had more public housing built during the war than any other State on the basis of population."

Jobless Pay Bill Assailed

Proposed changes in the Georgia Unemployment Compensation Law are "a fraud on the working people," Kenneth Douty, Chairman of the CIO Legislative Committee, charged here yesterday.

Douty demanded a public hearing on the bill. He said the local CIO group had petitioned Gov. Talmadge for a hearing and sent telegrams to members of the State of the Republic Committee.

"The bill raises the minimum and maximum compensations slightly," he said, "but then goes on to make it difficult for workers to draw compensations. It slashes in half the contribution of the largest employers in the State to the fund. There is no protection for skilled workers or for women workers with personal problems who cannot find suitable employment."

Talmadge Signs 4 Bills Into Law

Gov. Talmadge yesterday signed a bill abolishing the Veterans' Education Council.

Other bills signed into law by the Governor included: a measure permitting banks to close one day a week in addition to Sunday; providing a method for conversion of a national bank into a State bank, and permitting the Governor to appoint a five-member board (including the State Auditor) to determine whether pay raise bills should be vetoed.

Scott Astronomer Discusses 'Galaxies'

What Happened to Home Rule?

Why has the General Assembly taken no action on the Home Rule Bill introduced by Rep. Charlie Gowen, of Glynn, early in the current session?

It is our understanding this measure was approved unanimously in committee a week ago and since has been languishing on the House calendar, waiting for the Speaker to call it up.

This bill must not be allowed to die.

Rather, it should have been the first measure taken up at this session. A vast majority of members of the General Assembly pledged themselves during last Summer's campaign to work for a real home rule law.

And except for the ambitious few who cherish the local political power they wield under the present system, home rule would mean a blessing to the legislators themselves. For it would free them to devote their time to matters concerning the State at large, which is their proper function, rather than spending a greater portion of it on matters of purely local significance.

Several cities adopted home rule under provisions of the 1947 statute, which since has turned out to be invalid. These municipalities accepted the law in good faith and it is up to the Legislature to keep faith with them by rectifying the error.

There is no good reason why the Legislature should maintain an arbitrary grip on every move of cities and towns in the State.

The General Assembly has a week left before adjournment. That is plenty of time to act on the matter. It would be tragic disregard of a clear-cut responsibility if home rule fails to pass.

Boy Scout Week---a Salute

This has been National Boy Scout Week and we are happy to add our somewhat belated salute to this fine organization.

Scouting probably has done more than any single organization, outside the church, to build character and the traits of good citizenship in growing boys. In addition, it provides an outlet for every robust young American's love of adventure and his desire for a first-hand acquaintance with the workings of nature.

The Boy Scout movement has been growing steadily since it was founded 39 years ago and there are today more than 2,200,000 youngsters enrolled. We don't have the figures but several thousand young Georgians are among them.

The Scout organization will keep on growing because it fills a definite need for clean, supervised fun as well as offering the opportunity for real achievement.

Tourist Court Tragedies

Here's an unusual story from Floyd County.

The owner of a tourist court actually asked a couple to produce evidence that they were married and refused to rent them a cabin when they failed to convince him that they were.

In this case the owner got shot at for his vigilance.

But if more tourist court proprietors in the area of our larger cities would follow his example it would help clean up a sad and sordid situation that too often ends in tragedy.

Let's Try Economy First

Sen. George of Georgia is one of our foremost authorities on taxation and finance.

The Senator all along has urged caution on the President's proposal to increase general taxes by $4,000,000,000, plus almost $3,000,000,000 in additional pay-roll levies.

This week he announced he was prepared to urge Congress not to consider any new tax legislation until late in the year at the earliest.

Sen. George said there are "definite signs that the so-called boom of the past four years is at least leveling off so that the forces of inflation and deflation are now somewhat in balance.

"If this is true," he continued, "an increase of $4,000,000,000 in general tax revenues, plus an increase of $2,822,000,000 in pay-roll taxes at this time might be a contributing factor to a business recession."

In that case, Sen. George pointed out, the Government might lose more than it would gain through a tax increase.

That the Senator's view is generally accepted was indicated by yesterday's decision of the House Ways and Means Committee to postpone action on the proposed increase. There has for some time been serious question as to the advisability of complying with Mr. Truman's request in the face of many "soft spots" in the economy, coupled with the fact that even now the Federal Government is taking about one-fifth of the national income in taxes. Combined national, State and local taxes run the tax bill up to approximately 30 percent of our income.

Most economists believe prolonged taxation at the rate of 25 percent or more of the national income is suicidal. We have been paying that much since 1942.

In our opinion it would be far better for the Congress to insist upon the necessary economies to fit expenditures to revenue derived from present taxes. There are many items which cannot be curtailed, it is true, because of our commitments and responsibilities. But, the growing federal pay roll, overlapping functions of departments and agencies and the waste in the defense setup offer fertile ground for economy. Many of these are pointed out in the Hoover report.

It won't hurt to try economy first.

Gov. Dewey Comes Up Slugging

WASHINGTON—Gov. Dewey has come up with a fighting speech in reply to Old Guard elements of his party who would write him off as a permanent liability after his two losing attempts at the presidency. Whether he is again a candidate or not, he has shown no disposition to relinquish his role as the titular head of the party. It was in the latter capacity that the New York Governor spoke before the Lincoln Day dinner celebration of Republicans here the other night. Celebrating is perhaps the wrong word for there was little for the Republicans to celebrate.

This was the first public speech Gov. Dewey has made since the disastrous defeat suffered by the Republicans last November. Hence it has been awaited with a great deal of interest. In it he made what is regarded as a declaration of war against the ultra conservative wing of his party and urged that "liberal and progressive" forces take command.

To those in his party who would turn the clock back on measures of social progress, he suggested that they ought to go out and try to get elected in a typical American community and see what happens to them. But they ought not to run as Republicans, he said.

In describing the two extremes of thought in the Party, he first mentioned those who honestly oppose such New Deal policies as farm price supports, unemployment insurance, slum clearance, old-age benefits and the like. "These people," he said, "consider these programs horrendous departures into paternalism and would repeal them all . . . they believe in a laissez faire society and look back wistfully to the miscalled 'good old days' of the nineteenth century."

These are the elements, he said, which take the position that the sole duty of an opposition party is opposition: "They urge Republicans in and out of Congress to fight every proposal of a Democratic Administration regardless of its merits."

On the other extreme he named those within the Party "who seem to embrace the entire New Deal and want to go far beyond it as rapidly as possible at almost any cost and regardless of consequences."

Between these two extremes he would strike a happy medium. It all sounds very well, but it is easier said than done. The truth of it is, as Gov. Dewey now proclaims in his speech, that the Republican Party is now "split wide open," with little hope of achieving the unity that he so glibly talked about in the recent campaign.

Much or all of the social progress achieved under present and past Democratic Administrations is here to stay, he believes, and he invites any Republicans who will not support them to leave the Party. What he would do is have the GOP convince the country that it can do a better job of running the Government than the Democrats.

But where Gov. Dewey fell down, it seems, was in trying to reduce the issue to one of freedom vs. slavery. He did this by suggesting that the Democrats are purposely leading the people into a condition of economic and political bondage.

That is going to be a hard one to sell to the country, particularly where the benefits embraced in the social programs advanced by the Democrats extend to the great mass of the people themselves. Some people may be concerned about the trend toward a nationalized state reflected in the programs of the Administration, but not many can be convinced that it is a part of a deliberate design.

Gov. Dewey correctly defines the dilemma into which the Republicans are placed, but he has not found a way out by simply suggesting that the Party sell the country the idea that it can do a better job of administering than the Democrats. The people will want more than that.

Prose That Walks in Beauty—

"Now at last the slowly gathered, long-pent-up fury of the storm broke upon us. . . ."

So begins Winston Churchill's second volume of memoirs, soon to appear in book form and now being published by the New York Times and Life magazine.

Any person who likes words and who is lifted by majestic use of them once again will sit before Churchill's words humble and yet exalted. They move, as was noted at the time "The Gathering Storm" was printed, with all the organ-like majesty of the Old Testament prose.

Finest Hour The book is called "Their Finest Hour." It deals largely with the events leading to Dunkirk; the slow, well-fought retreat to the beaches; the long agony of taking off what remained of the British Army, with its equipment left on the sands.

There comes, too, the story of the sickness of France; the tremendous will to drive back the Nazi airforce which the Royal Airforce took with them into the air in that swirling, fiercely fought battle against great odds we learned to call "the Battle of Britain." Through it all the desperate courage of the Prime Minister himself and that of the people who were about him shines forth with soul-warming strength.

Britain would have fought, had she been invaded, and she would have been overrun. But many deaths of great pathos and of much dignity and honor would have occurred along the route of the invaders. In 1942, when the invasion was no longer practical, as it once was, one could still see the flimsy concrete blockhouses at cross-roads; the rusting loops of barbwire and the pitifully inadequate tank traps which the Britons had thrown up in that dreadful hour when their army was defeated after long and honorable fighting; when its equipment was gone; when Italy was about to join the Germans; when all seemed lost save threadbare hope.

Need How helpless was the Island Kingdom? I recall that one day the heads of the State Guards, which had replaced the National Guard then called to service, appeared at my office in an agitated state of mind. The Government had called in all their old rifles; their machineguns left from World War I and already outmoded and inefficient; and all their revolvers. "What if we have riots?" they asked, "and our men unarmed?" It did seem unreasonable and there were, I recall, critical editorials.

What none of us knew was that Britain's plight was so extreme that these old guns, little more than junk, were gathered up in great numbers and sent to the British Home Guards for possible use against the Nazis who, if they had dropped down from the skies and landed on the beaches would have come with the most modern weapons, including even light artillery. There was no appeasement in the minds or characters of the British. They were going to fight.

Story There are few more moving stories than that of Churchill's as he tells how, when he met with his cabinet and measured the disaster, he said, quite casually: "Of course, whatever happens at Dunkirk, we shall fight on." The staid and sorrowful men all leaped to their feets, cheering. Many of them ran around to embrace him and pat his back. Churchill believes that had he faltered in leadership at that moment he would have been hurled out of office.

Those were high moments. Looking back at them, recalling the scenes of the war and the magnificent heights to which men may rise, I am again saddened by the fact that peace and the search for peace cannot unite men and women and lift them to a high plane of mutual appreciation and courage as can war. Reading these moving words of Winston Churchill's over again, one feels once more the thrills of those days when Britain was fighting alone and in this country we strove to find the will to move in beside her in the fight against the Nazis who sought to enslave the world—and the surge of national pride when we were in to do our share. Our fight today, against another tyranny, lacks the glamor and the heroics of war, but it is equally as desperate and must be prosecuted as strongly and as courageously.

"The white glow, overpowering and sublime," which sustained us in time of war and stress is missing. We do not fight as well or as unselfishly. But enough is left to us from those days of struggle to carry us through.

The Miracle of Britain's Revival

LONDON—If good news were generally regarded as headline-worthy, what has been happening in Britain would long ago have made the headlines in American newspapers. There is only one way to describe it. In the past year, the British people have accomplished a miracle.

In November, 1947, when this correspondent was last in London, the economic outlook was as dark as the military outlook in July, 1940. The nation was suffering from a massive financial hemorrhage which threatened the collapse of its currency. Exports and imports appeared to be hopelessly unbalanced. Recovery of coal and other production was gravely slow. And the prospect of immediate American aid stood between the British economy, once the balance wheel of the world economy, and final, total disaster.

Now the traveler observes that things are better in the very hour of arriving in London. This sprawling, imperial city is one which depends heavily on smartness for its effect. And now fresh paint, the polished brass, the whitened steps and even the neat bay trees in tubs that made the old London are at least beginning to reappear.

Food The British people are still accepting without grumbling a degree of austerity that would bring on a revolution in most countries—barring starches and fresh vegetables, an Englishman's weekly ration would not make two reasonably hearty meals. But the shops are nonetheless full now. The restaurant food tastes less like a series of depressing variations on a central theme of mucilage. And although home cookery is hardly a British forte, British housewives have managed to do much with the slight increase in variety and quantity of food allowed them. Outwardly, in short, British life seems to have returned almost to normal except that there is none of the glittering display of luxury which used to make very rich English people look like members of an entirely separate race.

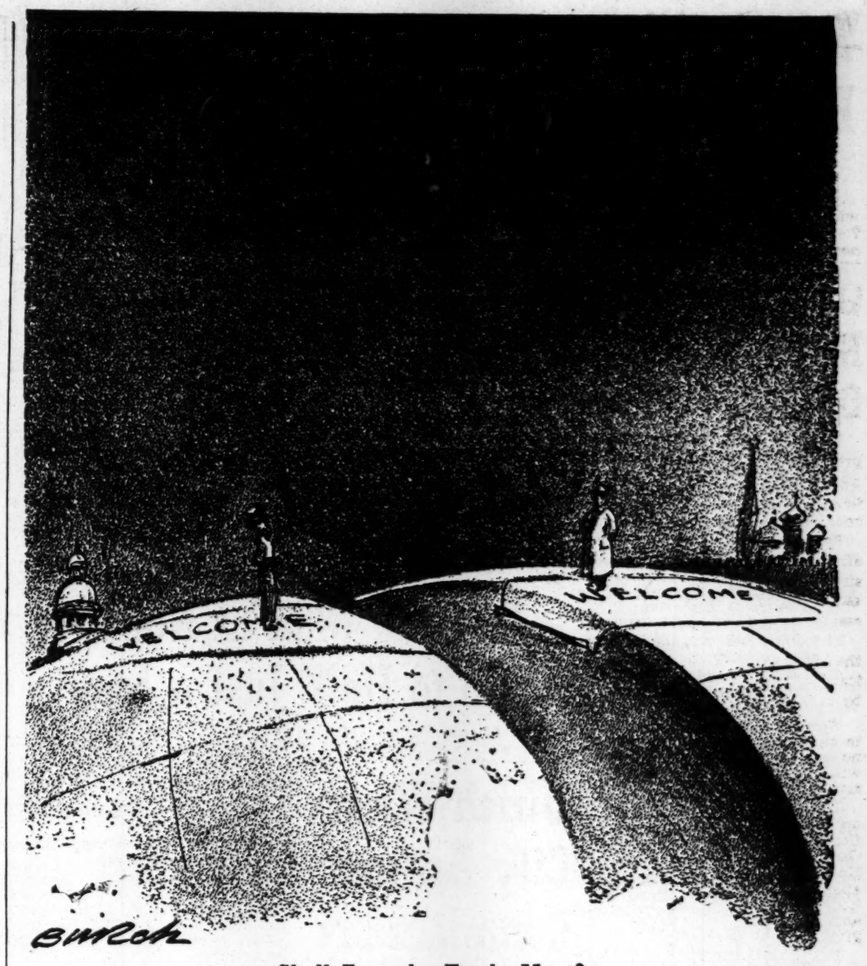

It is not in all this outward improvement, however, that the real British miracle lies. To find the miracle, you must look, rather, to serried ranks of statistics which Sir Stafford Cripps presents to Parliament with a slight air of satisfaction in their very grimness.

A few salient facts tell the story. The drain on Britain's money reserve has been halted and sterling is becoming a scarce currency in every part of the world except the dollar area. During 1947 British exports went up by 40 percent in value over the previous year. By December, 1948, Britain was exporting at a rate close to her national goal—the staggering goal of 150 percent of the export total of 10 years before. And in the same months, Britain, for the first time since the war, came close to bringing into balance the totals of her export income and import expenditure.

Deficit These remarkable achievements by no means permit the British to relent in their efforts. For one thing, while they are trading on an almost equal basis with the world as a whole, they are still forced to buy from the United States far more than we buy from them. Their dollar deficit is still big—about $670,000,000 for the last half year of 1948. And while these figures represent a substantial gain, this dollar deficit must eventually be abolished altogether. Industry also must be further retooled and must see increasing competition from Germany and other reviving economies. British farming must be radically retrained for larger production. There is a long hard haul ahead.

The miracle remains. The British people must have the first credit. Credit must also go to British industry, now beginning to experiment again as it did in the nineteenth century. Then, too, there is the peculiar British political system under which the Tory opposition, behaving in a most un-Republican manner, has helped the Government on all fundamental issues. And last, but not least on the credit side, there is Sir Stafford Cripps, the strange, coolly intelligent, ruthlessly determined leader, who described himself as "sometimes discouraged but never depressed." It has been his task to bring Britain out of her slough of despond. After seeing what has happened here, one no longer wonders why the mere mention of the somewhat glacial Cripps causes Paul Hoffman, of the ECA, to wax positively sentimental.

Prospects What has happened here also has vast meaning for the United States. If the British miracle is not upset by a collapse of world trade, Britain will be standing on her own feet by 1952. Contrary to many predictions, Britain will be a great power again. For the United States this means that we shall no longer have to deal with the world emergency single-handed, with all the resulting strain on our resources and our people, if the Anglo-American partnership is maintained. This will be a combination pretty formidable to be challenged by any aggressor.

Shall Ever the Twain Meet?

JAY G. HAYDEN

Deflation Symptoms and Congress

WASHINGTON—Plummeting commodity prices and lesser deflationary symptoms in other quarters have changed almost every phase of the congressional outlook. Some of the more conspicuous effects of this trend are as follows:

Support of the European Recovery Program has greatly strengthened. Resistance to repeal of the Taft-Hartley law is rising; especially there is growing determination to keep strike-control features of this law intact until after the Spring period of wage adjustments.

Increase of individual income taxes is almost certainly out and tax increase of any sort is unlikely before June or July.

Frightened by the fall in prices of wheat, corn and other commodities to well below Government support levels, farm representatives are turning back to Government-enforced scarcity as a means of averting future surpluses.

As to the social reforms proposed by President Truman, reactions are mixed.

Signs of depression tend to increase support for a higher statutory minimum wage, enlarged old-age and unemployment benefits. But farmers, confronted by declining income, are more than ever demanding exemption of their hired men and women from these benefits.

Despite insistence by Administration economists that there still is more danger of inflation than deflation, there appears to be little or no chance of restoration of economic controls, as asked for by President Truman. There is a marked tendency even to hold back any new action on rent control until more is known of the economic future.

The most significant shift on account of the farm price decline relates to the European Recovery Program. Whereas a main complaint against this in the beginning was that it would take goods needed at home with the effect of increasing costs for American consumers, the demand now is for more buying for export to relieve U. S. surpluses.

Western representatives are complaining bitterly that Canadian wheat was bought by ECA in the face of an existing U. S. surplus; Southern cotton and tobacco growers charge that too much of these commodities are being purchased abroad; and American producers are demanding that all restriction on export of oils and fats be lifted.

The growing aversion to increase in taxes, on the ground that this would raise consumer costs and discourage production, is calculated to affect the whole range of Government appropriations. Congress will try harder to reduce existing expenses and it is less likely to vote costly innovations.

While the farm price decline was generally anticipated on account of the exceptionally large 1949 crop, there is no such visible reason for decline in urban business. There is still a great demand for all sorts of manufactured goods, at home and abroad, and, excepting farm prices—which are still far above prewar levels—there has been no decline in American ability to buy.

While it discounts the possibility of a general depression, a current bulletin of the National City Bank of New York says that there has been a "slackening." It says:

"The primary change is that demand is less urgent, both from people and business. People have filled many pressing needs . . . and they can now hold off for lower prices or better quality. . . . Many businessmen are reluctant to go ahead with new plans for expansion, both because building costs are high and because the outlook for profits is clouded by stiffening competition and possible tax increases.

"In short, the return to buyers' markets, to seasonable fluctuations, and to competitive conditions which in many instances imply shrinking profit margins, is spreading. . . . The phrase 'priced out of the market' takes on a more urgent meaning."

'Best Since Dudley Glass'

Editor Constitution: In looking through current editions of county weeklies I suggest that you turn to "Charlie Elsberry and the Lord's Well," by Alice Austin Sheffield, in the Dallas, Ga., New Era, Feb. 3 issue.

In my humble opinion this is the best published prose that has come from her pen since her famous tribute to Dudley Glass.

I recall having mailed her Dudley Glass story to a national magazine which gave it a reprint. Have forgotten the name of this magazine, however. It had to do with newspaper people.

Alice Austin Sheffield is a poet, and in good time we may expect to see a book on her poems. She is a member of the Writers' Club, Manuscript-at-Large Club and attended the Writers' Conference at Oxford this past Summer. It was here she soaked in enough inspiration to last throughout the year—until at least the next conference! She returned home bubbling over and has never yet stopped bubbling, writing better poetry and better prose. She is a regular contributor to Westminster Magazine and other periodicals.

I managed to tune in this rainy morning to your Doris Lockerman and was again intrigued by the sound of her "personality voice." And with what she had to say. When she mentioned about some of the boys having been "picked," it was then my mother heart warmed to the thought, "Why, my son, too, was picked." Yes, my son—the youngest—my David—was among the few chosen from a large group—A. F. and when the letter reached me here in my little cottage in the wildwood I bowed my head—remembering, oh, so many things—the long, oft' times difficult uphill pull—and now—chosen—dear Lord—we thank Thee.

Vets' Bonus

Editor Constitution: In the letter "No Raids, Please," Mr. West seemed to express the opinion that the veterans are not patriotic in time of peace. I would like to ask Mr. West if he considers himself patriotic? He expressed the opinion that the veterans were receiving too many benefits from the Treasury. Frankly I think this is a very narrow view of the subject.

In the first place, we can never repay the veterans for their service. You try to get one to go back through what he did, for any amount of money, and see what he will say. Then you may go to one of the many veterans' hospitals and you will see the reason they wouldn't go back. I wonder if Mr. West has ever been to one of these hospitals.

Yes, Mr. West, the people are tax weary but I don't think it is because of the veterans' benefits. It took money to fight a war and it will take a lot more to heal the wounds of war. We spend billions of dollars on the people in Europe without complaint, then grumble about spending a little on the fellows that kept Europe from taking all we had. Mr. West, just how much good would money have done you if it had not been for those fellows?

Athens. W. T. HATCH.

No Chain Store Tax

Editor Constitution: It has been proposed that the Georgia Legislature follow the European pattern of collectivism by renouncing our Anglo-Saxon tradition of individualism.

The suggestion of a chain store tax is inimical to the best interests of the capitalistic system.

The chain store tax has produced very little revenue in comparison with the other State taxes. Only two State taxes have produced less. In 1936, for instance, total State yields for the chain store tax were $4,617,089. This is to be contrasted with State taxes such as gasoline, $655,519,855; sales and use taxes, $351,674,647; motor vehicle, $338,157,052.

Palpably, then the purpose of such a tax must not be to raise revenue as much as it is to "curb bigness." This tax is in exactly the same category as the excess profits tax, which was not even recommended by the "left-of-center" Truman "fair deal."

The income tax is progressive and taxes on the amount of income received. This tax is confiscatory and amounts to a mulcting of business—it has no relationship to income. It is retrogressive and naturally tends to discourage the free flow of equity capital which is essential to a retention of the "prosperity plateau" in which we now find ourselves. Further, such a tax raises the price to the consumer because it cuts down on the savings which the chain store can offer.

Such a tax is way out in "left" field. The Georgia Legislature has proved itself and certainly will not be taken in by this "Red" measure.

'Helpful'

Editor Constitution: I hope you will forgive my belated letter attempting to express my appreciation for using the Georgia Cavalcade articles prepared by Gus Bernd in your column while you were on vacation. This gesture on your part gratified me very much because it made me feel that through Gus Bernd, the office of Secretary of State is really getting part of the "Georgia Story" across to the citizens of the State. I want you to know how deeply grateful I am for your help in doing this. BEN W. FORTSON, JR.,

Colonial Hills Baptists Hosts to Railroad Men

By PAUL JONES

Railroad men, representing most railway companies in Atlanta, will attend special services at the Colonial Hills Baptist Church at 7:45 p. m. tomorrow when D. J. Fant, retired Southern Railway Engineer, and the Rev. Paul R. Van Gorder, Pastor, will speak.

Fant, veteran of more than 2,000,000 miles of travel on the road, will tell many of his experiences while serving with the Southern. Mr. Van Gorder will speak on "Missing the Signals."

An appropriate program of music, featuring the songs of trios, ensembles and congregational singing will be featured, also.

New Lutheran Pastor

The Rev. J. M. Slice will be installed pastor of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church at 11 a. m. tomorrow by the Rev. C. A. Linn, President of the Georgia-Alabama Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America.

Mr. Slice formerly served as pastor of the Church of the Reformation, Savannah. Later he became a Board Missionary of the Board of American Missions of the ULCA. Emmanual Lutheran Church will be received into full membership of the Georgia-Alabama Synod during its meeting Feb. 15-17 in Augusta.

Missionary Will Speak

Mrs. Gusie Fraser, returned missionary from China, will speak at 11 a. m. tomorrow at the Pryor Street Presbyterian Church.

Monastic Prior's Mission

The Rev. Bonnell Spencer, Prior of the Episcopal Monastery, St. Andrew's, Tenn., will conduct an eight-day preaching mission at the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour beginning tomorrow and continuing each day throughout Sunday, Feb. 20. Services will be held at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. tomorrow and at 8 p. m. each weekday.

Prior Spencer is author of the Book, "They Saw the Lord." He received his degree from Oxford University, England. He is a member of the Order of the Holy Cross, a monastic order for Episcopal priests and laymen who take the ancient vows of poverty, chastity and obedience.

Dr. M. B. Stokes Speaks

Dr. M. B. Stokes, Emory theology student, will speak at 11 a. m. tomorow at the Inman Park Methodist Church.

Episcopal Men Elect

Allan V. Gray has been named President of the Men's Club of the Cathedral, Protestant Episcopal Church, Warren Foster was named First Vice President; C. Miller Euler, Second Vice President and George Mende, Secretary.

Van Arsdale in Pulpit

The Rev. W. S. Van Arsdale, Jr., Assistant Minister of the Peachtree Christian Church, will conduct services at 11 a. m. tomorrow in the absence of Dr. Robert W. Burns, Minister.

Boy Scout Service

Three Boy Scout troops will attend services at the Peachtree Road Methodist Church at 11 a.m. tomorrow when the Rev. Nat G. Long, Pastor, will mark the 38th anniversary of the Boy Scout Movement with a talk on "Who Is a Good Scout?" The troops are Cub Pack No. 3, Troops 59 and 6059.

Only Italians Notify Vatican Of Their Coming

VATICAN CITY — (AP)—The prefect of the pontifical ceremonies officially announced yesterday that Monday's extraordinary consistory will be held at 9 a. m.

Pope Pius XII, in a consistory allocution, is expected to condemn strongly Hungary's trial and life-sentencing of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty.

The consistory will be held in the Consistory Hall in the Vatican Palace and will be attended by 21 Italian Cardinals.

Informed sources said that up to now the Vatican has received no report that foreign Cardinals will come to Rome for the occasion.

The time for the consistory's opening, 9:30 a. m., announced officially in the Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano by Msgr. Henrico Dante, prefect of the apostolic ceremonies, was a half-hour earlier than the previously announced time. No reason was given for the advancement.

The Latin communique called for the Cardinals to wear their violet robes, violet capes, lined with white ermine and black stockings.

Catholics and Communists planned separate demonstrations in Italy's biggest piazzas next Sunday, which promised to be a busy day for police.

Catholic Action, militant lay organization, called on its millions of members to protest Hungary's "incredible outrage" against Cardinal Mindszenty and the church.

Leaders of Catholic Action's well organized youth movement have sent a call to members to "reaffi in all the piazzas of Italy our decision to defend the fatherland and Christianity."

Communists, in the meantime, scheduled youth demonstrations for "the family and peace" ext Sunday in central piazzas of Rome and other large Italian cities.

Spellman Sees Red Prosecutors Crusade Cooling

HAVANA—(INS)—Francis Cardinal Spellman said yesterday he believes his call to Americans of all creeds to join an international crusade against communism will cause Hungarian prosecutors of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty "to back down."

The New York archbishop is in Havana to speak at an inter-American convention of the Catholic Action organization. He issued his call against the "tricksters and traitors to God" last Wednesday just before leaving New York.

The Cardinal said he is stunned and gratified by the mobilization of demands from all faiths for Cardinal Mindszenty's release.

"I believe," he said, "they (the Communists) will be forced to back down."

Your City Hall

By HERMAN HANCOCK

HARPER QUITS—T. D. Harper, for more than 20 years employed as a carpenter in the maintenance division of city schools, has resigned his position, it was announced yesterday. Harper has been bound over under $1,500 bond to the Fulton Grand Jury on charges of sodomy.

CANDLER POOL FAVORED—Ald. Lee Evans, Chairman of Council's Parks Committee, yesterday said he and other members of the committee favor construction of a $75,000 swimming pool at Candler Park. Evans said the decision favoring the pool still stands despite opposition from a number of residents in the immediate vicinity and added the only obstacle is financing the project. "We are still convinced that an overwhelming majority of the people want the pool," Evans said. He added a ressurvey of city finances after adjournment of the Legislature will be mandatory if the money is to be obtained.

FIRE PROTECTION STUDIED—Fire Chief Styron predicted yesterday that an acceptable agreement will be devised through which Atlanta will provide fire protection for Stonybrook subdivision southeast of Atlanta. He said he, Scott Candler, DeKalb County Commissioner, and representatives of about 100 residents of the area have been in conference and that an agreement appears certain. Residents had asked to be annexed to Atlanta, but when that appeared unlikely, they urged the city to provide fire protection and Candler is co-operating to work out a plan to accomplish that.

MRS. SELF VISITOR — Mrs. Paul Self, employee of the Personnel Department who has been ill for several months, visited friends at the City Hall yesterday and said she expects to return to her duties about March 1.

WILLING WATER OUT — Another issue of "Willing Water," a publication of the Atlanta Waterworks Department, was being distributed yesterday. The pamphlet is filled with educational information, good natured gossip and departmental news.

MAYOR'S DAY—Mayor Hartsfield yesterday addressed members of the Birmingham Civitan Club an flew back to Atlanta in time to address the annual dinner meeting of the East Atlanta Woman's Club. He will be back at his desk this morning. While he was out of the city, Mayor Pro Tem James E. Jackson, acted as Mayor.

Reds' Charges Against Bishop Stir Atlantans

Bishop Paul Garber's Atlanta friends—incensed over recent indictments of the Bishop by Reds in Bulgaria—affirmed their faith in the churchman here yesterday. The Bishop was accused by Reds of "spying in Bulgaria."

"He is a friendly and democratic man, loved by everybody," H. B. Trimble, Dean of the School of Theology at Emory University, declared. Dr. Rufus Wicker, Pastor of the Druid Hills Methodist Church, characterized Bishop Garber as "one of the kindliest men we have in the Methodist Church."

Atlanta churchmen were relieved to know the Bishop had not fallen into hands of his enemies. Recent letters received from Bishop Garber indicated he was at his headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland.

A Virginian, Bishop Garber was elected bishop at the Methodist jurisdictional conference here in 1944 He has been located in Europe since shortly after the election.

Laymen Appoint Committees for Church Revival

By THOMAS M. ELLIOTT

Permanent committees to promote the Greater Atlanta religious revival this fall, or early next year, will be named today at the Christian Businessmen's League luncheon at 12:30 p. m. at the Robert Fulton Hotel, C. N. Allison, President of the League, announced.

All members of the Temporary Committee are asked to attend, together with Atlanta ministers and laymen who are interested in the contemplated religious awakening for Greater Atlanta's 550 churches. Atlanta is named as one of the 50 cities in the United States that will this year undertake such a movement in connection with the Christ for America crusade.

Atlanta laymen, through the Christian Businessmen's League, are sponsoring the revival here. It has been suggested that a 10-day central meeting be held at the Municipal Auditorium with 10 of Atlanta's ministers delivering one sermon each. Following the 10-day central meeting each church in the Greater Atlanta area will promote its individual and community revival. Homer Rodeheaver has been selected as director of all music for the central meeting.

In Memoriam

In memory of our dear son and brother, Hershel Jones, who left us two years ago, Feb. 12, 1947:
Memories are treasures no one can steal.
Death is a heartache no one can heal.
Some may forget you, now that you're gone,
We shall never forget you, no matter how long.
MR. & MRS. W. C. JONES, Sisters and Brothers.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Mr. Preston B. Harrison acknowledges with grateful appreciation the kind expressions of sympathy during their recent bereavement. Also, the many beautiful floral tributes were deeply appreciated.
MRS. PRESTON B. HARRISON.

W. M. Smith, Attorney, Dies

William Manning Smith, prominent Atlanta and New York attorney, died in a local hospital yesterday after an extended illness. He was 69.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Dahlonega Methodist Church, with the Rev. A. C. Johnson and the Rev. Arthur Pilgrim officiating. Burial will be in Dahlonega.

A native of Augusta, Mr. Smith was a graduate of North Georgia College, in Dahlonega, and the University of Georgia Law School.

He practiced law in Atlanta for 15 years after his graduation, and was associated with the late Judge Walter Daley and the late Aldine Chambers.

Mr. Smith moved to New York about 31 years ago, and was a member of the firm of McLaughlin and Stern before retiring in 1943.

He returned to Dahlonega after his retirement and started work on a school for mountain children. He was a Mason and a member of the Methodist Church.

Mr. Smith is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Lou Baker Smith, of Dahlonega; a daughter, Mrs. Maurice L. Allen, of New York; two sons, Dr. Frank Baker Smith, of Portland, Ore., and Walter A. Smith, Atlanta attorney, and five grandchildren.

RADIO QUIZ SLEUTH

'Phantom Voice' Guesses

NEW YORK — (NANA) — Probable answers to current radio quiz shows are:

"What's My Name?," ABC, Saturday mornings at 11:30. The winner could be "Madeleine Carroll."

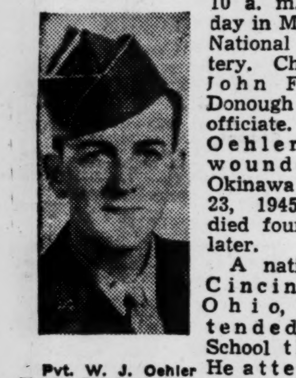

"Sing It Again," CBS, Saturday nights at 10. The "Phantom Voice" could be "Ralph Bellamy" or "Cecil B. de Mille."

Here are some guesses sent in by quiz fans who think they may be "The Phantom Voice" of "Sing It Again," over CBS.

Any one of these tips could win, but your sleuth is limiting his choices to those named above. They are: Ralph Greenleaf," "Alan Dale," "Joe DiMaggio," "Willie Mosconi," "Joseph Cotton," "Ralph Forbes" or "Carter de Haven."

Mother and 7 Of 8 Children Perish in Fire

CLAYTON, N. Y. — (UP) — A young mother and seven of her eight children were burned to death when fire leveled their tiny three-room home near this St. Lawrence River village early yesterday.

The father and the oldest child escaped into the sub-zero weather.

Twenty-five volunteer firemen arrived within 15 minutes after two neighbors turned in an alarm, but they were too late to save Mrs. Clifford R. Conant, 29, and the seven trapped youngsters: Clifford, Jr., 11; Stanley, 10; Larry and Louise, eight-year-old twins; Robert, six; Frederick, four and Nancy Ann, one.

Clyde Owen Says:
We will sell Saturday lots of practically new cars, '48 and '49 models.

Not over list price on some popular cars.

Some with 5,000 to 10,000 miles are $300 to $600 under list price.

'46 and '47 Models from $1,195 to $1,795

Clean '40, '41 and '42 models

I really think you can buy a car now for $200 to $300 less than you can for the next 7 months.

Don't miss the Horace Heidt show Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 15th and 16th at the City Auditorium.

BRIAN SULLIVAN
Cast as "Peter Grimes"

TODAY IN RADIO

Brian Sullivan Stars In 'Peter Grimes' Today

The opera, "Peter Grimes," is a comparatively new work (composed in 1945 by Benjamin Britten with words by Montagu Slater), and it is perhaps fitting it should have as its star a comparatively new singer (Brian Sullivan, tenor), when it comes to the air as a Metropolitan Opera presentation this afternoon.

The opera which had its Met debut a year ago today, is a movingly dramatic social document of the life and times of a nineteenth century British town — a fishing village on England's East Coast.

Young Mr. Sullivan, who sang the lead in "New Moon" in Atlanta this season, will be cast as "Peter Grimes." Polyna Stoska, soprano, and Lawrence Tibbett, baritone, will sing the supporting leads in this English language opera which will be heard over WCON-ABC beginning at 2.

Navy Hour

Under-Secretary of the Navy John W. Kenny will speak on "Our Navy Investment" during the United States Navy Hour this afternoon at 1:30. As usual, Lt. Cmdr. Charles Brendler will conduct the 90-piece Navy Band and there will be feature guest stars from the entertainment world — WCON-ABC.

Whodunnit?

A cute endeavor by Radio Unlimited (a group from Junior Achievement) is the WEAS program titled "Whodunnit?" and which tells facts about a mysterious person who attends one of the Atlanta high schools. The broadcast is heard each Saturday at 12:30 and there are $100 in prizes. (Last week there was a winner, we understand.)

Gangbusters

The dramatic story of a lone-wolf bandit who holds up the terminal office of an airline not once, but many times, will be portrayed on Gangbuster's "Case of the Lone Wolf Airlines Robber" tonight at 9 over WAGA-CBS.

American Farmer

Most people associate state fairs with early and late Fall, but here's a state fair being held in the Winter time. It's the Florida State Fair at Tampa from which WCON-ABC's American Farmer will be broadcast today at 12:45. It's 4-H Club day at the fair and they say the agriculture exhibits to be described are interesting and colorful.

Mirror of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Are men better cooks than women?

Answer: The average male who boasts of his skill as an amateur chef is a trial to his wife's patience and to his friends' palates. But when it comes to professionals, there is little question that men chefs are "easy winners." I suspect the reason is that while neurotic overeating is, if anything, more common among women than among men, we comparatively rarely find a woman with a critical appreciation of the best in cuisine. For the best incentive to fine cooking is good taste and gusto in eating what you cook.

Can psychiatry "break up your home"?

Answer: Only if the family life is based upon the exploitation of one person beyond his or her endurance, even though the victim may not realize it. It may happen that the parents, and perhaps the younger children have grown so dependent on an older child that that child's own emotional needs are utterly frustrated, and a "breakdown" results. In a case like this, successful treatment moy inspire the patient to stand up for his or her rights in ways that appear outrageous to the unconscious exploiters.

Is "morning depression" normal?

Answer: No, says Dr. Jan Ehrenwald in the American Journal of Psychotherapy. But it is so common that physicians tend to overlook the fact that it may be an indication of approaching physical or mental illness. It occurs most frequently with people who sleep soundest in the early morning and find it extremely difficult to wake up. With awakening, the conflicts that made their first sleep uneasy are revived by renewed contact with the real world, and the realization of what they must face once more fills their hearts with gloom.

Opening lead: King of Diamonds.

It is characteristic of the mediocre player that he cannot face the reality of giving up to the opposition tricks which must inevitably be lost. Sometimes even experienced players fall victim to this myopic weakness.

The South of today's hand was a seasoned veteran, who handled the bidding situation with great delicacy, but unfortunately lost sight of a fine point in the play of the dummy. When the Diamond bid was passed around to South he elected to make a cue bid instead of doubling. This he did to provide against the contingency that partner with length in Diamond would be tempted to leave the double in for penalties.

North naturally responded with three Clubs and South showed his spit. It was not necessary for South to jump the bid, inasmuch as the cue bid was forcing to game and partner was not permitted to take the liberty of passing. When North responded with the routine bid of three no trump, South quite properly bid only five Hearts, inasmuch as he had to this point not yet ascertained partner had anything at all. Every previous bid made by North had been forced. North having the Ace of Clubs which he had by no means promised, accepted the slam invitation.

The King of Diamonds was ruffed by declared, who then played the Ace, King, and a low Spade, ruffing in dummy. He then drew all the trumps, hoping for something to happen. At the end he had the three Clubs left in his hand, and dummy had the Queen of Diamonds and the Ace and a small Club. West simply held on the Ace of Diamonds and the King-Jack of Clubs and there was no way for declarer to avoid the loss of two tricks.

Declarer had not taken advantage of the situation. A quick count of the tricks showed that he had 11: six Hearts, three Spades, the Ace of Clubs and a Spade ruff in dummy. The way to produce the 12th is by a squeeze. West, who has opened the bidding, is marked with the Ace of Diamonds and the King of Clubs, and may be unable to hold on to both. But it is fundamental in the operation of a squeeze that the opposition must be given their tricks first. Note how differently this hand develops, if declarer refuses the first trick, discarding a low Club.

West can do no better than shift to a trump. The two Spades are cashed and a Spade ruffed. Declarer re-enters his hand by ruffing a Diamond and leads out all his high cards. Three tricks from the end, South holds the last trump and the Queen-Four of Clubs, dummy has the Queen of Diamonds and the Ace-Seven of Clubs. West has the Ace of Diamonds and the King-Jack of Clubs. When the last trump is led, West must discard before dummy. Regardless of which he decides to throw, the path leads but to the grave.

General Tendencies — Watch for false steps until the middle of next week—health, finances or short journeys can all create confusion and some remarkable experiences. It's all very fine to think of adventure, but you want to embark upon it when you have better prospects than are in force just now. By the way, do not expect large events at this time; be prepared for petty inconveniences, irritating trifles and small annoyances, any of which add up to embarrassment or disappointment. This can be hectic when mixed with social life.

If It's Your Birthday—Women will not prove your best friends during 1949—too much under the surface seems to be going on. Doubtless there will be romances here, but the best chances come very late or else during 1950. Hurry will not improve your success or happiness now. If you become fascinated by some new acquaintance, just take time enough to look into his or her background; there is plenty which you may not think of under ordinary conditions and which you may not fancy as a foundation for future progress. Don't be critical, just be cautious.

Keep Valentine Parties Strictly Boy-Girl Affairs

By SHEILA JOHN DALY
(Copyright, 1949)

Many a gal has wept and wailed because she lost her best beau boy, but when that evasive character shows up in loving twosome with one of her best girl friends, that's double trouble. And that's what happened to this gal, who tells her woes this way:

"I had all that any gal could ask for—a wonderful fellow who seemed to be bats about me, and lots of girl friends to keep me amused when my guy went out with the boys. We weren't actually going steady, but I considered him my number one man, and he seemed to think I was more than just a friend. We had a standing arrangement to go out every Saturday night, and to all the school parties and plays. On Friday nights I would join the rest of the harpy huddle for a girl-party, and all the boys who dated would get together for fun on their own.

"Everything was fine until about a month ago when one of the girls who usually joined us on Fridays stopped coming to the hen parties. I ddin't pay much attention, because I didn't know her very well and what she did with her evenings was strictly her own business. I did think it was rather strange that my moy was a little cool to me when we went out, but he had occasionally been moody before, and I thought I'd ignore his attitude.

"Then the gals brought me the amazing news that the reason the girl hadn't shown up at our parties was that she was dating my boy—every Friday night! And he didn't even have the courtesy to tell me. I stopped dating him right away, cuz I felt he'd been cheating, but I don't know how to treat her. How do you act when you're with a girl who stole your best date right from under your nose?"

Calm down, honeychile—if you and the fellow who used to be the love of your life (strictly past tense) weren't going steady, you don't have too much cause for complaint. Any gal is eager to latch on to a smooth fellow, and if he happens to be dating one of her girl friends regularly, that's only a small obstacle. You might resent her snatching him away, and it's likely that you'll be a bit jealous of her until you find another fellow to call your own, but make an effort to be nice to her. After all, you didn't have the fellow under a seven-year contract!

Russell High Gym Too Cold for Dodd

The Saturday Sports Serenade:

The Georgia Tech football players' basketball team has changed the site of its engagement with the Sports Arena Blues (gals) to the Druid Hills gym tonight. . . . It seems George Brodnax and Ewell Pope decided the Russell High gym was too cold and feared Coach Bobby Dodd might develop pneumonia sitting on the bench since he is physically unable to play more than five minutes at a time. . . . Incidentally, oxygen tents have been ordered for both Dodd and Wally Butts when the Tech and Georgia gridders meet on the basketball court on Feb. 28. . . . Ocean Queen, a 40-foot cutter owned by Harrington Hall, of Savannah, has been entered in the Miami-to-Nassau race next Tuesday. . . . The first baseball game of the season saw the Joe Stripp baseball school whip a similar outfit from the Washington camp, 6-4. . . . Frank Wilson, of Rome, is captain of the Vanderbilt swimming team. . . . Other Georgians on the squad include Dick Felker, of Monroe; Buck Davidson, of Atlanta, and A. D. Wright, of Gainesville. . . .

Red at Home Red Sanders is already doing all right on the Pacific Coast. . . . The new UCLA coach held a press conference the other day and slyly suggested that since he had to switch his boys from the T-formation to the single wing, maybe the other coaches would let him have 10 extra days of Spring practice. . . . Of course, the scribes got a big kick out of that. . . . Commenting on the 30-day limit to Spring drills, Red said, "Down South, we concentrated on football from January to June and then weren't too satisfied with the ABC's of blocking and tackling." . . . Georgia Tech football players were awarded rings at the team's banquet last night and it was discovered Frank Ziegler has the smallest size finger, wearing a size seven. . . . Buster Humphries requires a 12½, the largest, and little Jimmy Jordan, weighing 140, wears a nine. . . . The Tech freshman basketball team is undefeated in 12 games and boasts three players six feet six inches tall. . . . A total of 45,825 people, including guards, ushers and peanut salesmen, watched the Tech-Georgia football game in Athens last November. . . . That is official. . . .

Natural Name Names of race horses are always intriguing. . . . For example, Case Ace, a card game term, and Blue Denim, a material, are the parents of a three-year-old named Green Baize, which is the material used to cover card tables. . . . Jim Hearn suspects it was a mistake for him to go on that big league barnstorming trip after the past season and he doesn't intend to do it again. . . . Incidentally, Jim is going to Florida a little in advance of his St. Louis Cardinal teammates. . . . Wants to get to work correcting his delivery which telegraphed when his curve ball was coming. . . . Pat McHugh, the Philadelphia Eagle defensive star, was first miffed when he wasn't allowed to play offense. . . . But now he likes the idea, figuring a defensive player lasts a lot longer in the pro league. . . . In answer to a query: Rudy York has never played with the Atlanta Crackers. . . . Ted Cieslak, Buster Boguskie, Hal Quick, Pete Mallory, Jean Davidson and Jim Burns are just about the only familiar names on the Nashville Vol baseball roster, just released. . . .

Read, Don't Boo Here's a new wrinkle in sportsmanship, or something. . . . It seems there was a drive on to curb booing of basketball referees at Erskine. . . . Some school official suggested to the students that when the urge came to boo, they curb it by reading a newspaper. . . . The other night in the Georgia-Erskine game when the students disagreed with the referee, newspapers would pop up all over the place. . . . Usually, some guy in the front row would start it with, "Get out the papers!" . . . Hold it! . . . Rome, not Macon, will bury the football season with its Touchdown Club party on Feb. 25. . . . Macon's is on the 14th. . . . Add signs of the times: The Tobacco State League has reduced its general admission prices from 65 to 60 cents for the coming season. . . . The family of Bobby Pair, former Tech athlete who was killed during the war, has furnished a stained-glass window in the Peachtree Christian Church in his memory. . . . Forty-two freshmen, largest number in history of the school, will report for Spring football practice at Tennessee on Monday. . . . Already fans are comparing this frosh team to the one in 1938 which went through three undefeated varsity seasons.

Tucker Five, Chamblee In Finals

By JACK JACKSON
Constitution Sports Writer

CLARKSTON —Tucker's boys upset Stone Mountain, 40-39, in an overtime period here last night to advance to the finals of the DeKalb County tournament, but the victory isn't official as Stone Mountain Coach H. M. Brenner intends to file a protest to Sam Burke, of the GHSA, in Thomaston toay.

Brenner claims that time had expired before a foul, which gave Tucker its winning margin after the game had ended, was committed.

However, there isn't much chance that the protest will be upheld and, in all probability, Tucker will clash with Chamblee, 57-35 victor over Avondale, in the fianls tonight.

Tucker's girls also gained a berth in the finals by virtue of a 27-19 triumph over Avondale, and will take on Stone Mountain, 43-24 winner over Clarkson in the semi-final round at 7:30 tonight.

Stone Mountain and Tucker's boys battled right down to the finish in the outstanding game of the tournament, with the regulation game ending in a 32-32 deadlock.

Bob Ashworth set the pace for the winners with 13 points, but Stone Mountain's James Greer took top point honors, collecting 16.

Classy Chamblee continued its high-toned offensive play and had little trouble in eliminating Avondale. Jim Cox, Chamblee guard, flipped in 22 points to spark the attack, while Teammate Bobby Beiter contributed 13. Jerry Goodson, with 12, was high for Avondale.

Stone Mountain's girls assumed a 13-1 lead in the first quarter and breezed under the wire an easy winner as Carolyn McCurdy hit for 19 markers. Joan Hewatt was next with 15. Dot Godwin swished in 10 to lead the losers.

Effie Conner's sharp-shooting which accounted for 18 points enabled Tucker's sextet to vanquish Avondale. Tucker led at the half, 11-6, but could never pile up a commanding lead. Margaret and Betty Goble, with nine and eight points, respectively, paced Avondale.

O'Keefe Nips Brown, 37-35; Murphy To Battle Smith

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

O'Keefe High's embattled Irish, sparked by brilliant Opal Moon, finally came up with that big upset they have been threatening all year and it knocked Brown's Rebels out of what chance they had left of annexing the City League basketball championship.

The charges of Gene (Slick) Sackett never were behind the favored West Enders last night at Grady Court, and only twice were the Brownies on even terms—at 2-2 and 33-33. Two perfect foul shots with five seconds left by Pepper Rodgers knotted it at 33 and necessitated an overtime.

Moon, who played one of his finest games, had no intentions of being robbed of victory, however, and dropped in a foul shot and field goal in the overtime, and Buddy Rich also added a charity toss to give the Irish a 37-35 decision despite a fielder by Brown's Bill Darden in the last 30 seconds.

A surprising Marist quintet led Grady in a non-league game for almost all of three quarters but fell behind in the late stages of perhaps the roughest game in the history of basketball and succumbed, 39-34, in the second tiff of the twin bill. Don Diamond was the whole show in that one, firing 19 points from far and near.

O'Keefe had led many good teams before but always faded and lost. Last night, however, the greenclads were not to be denied. Jimmy Perry, Opal Moon, Fred Carey, Buddy Rich and Warren Harper played almost the entire game without relief and made every quarter pole a winning one —13-5, 20-18 and 30-29. Except for Rodgers' coolness with those charity throws the Irish would have won in regulation.

Bill Darden, with 14 points, and Bobby Smith, with 11, were by far the standouts for the Brownies, who played good floor ball but were off with their shooting. Until Smith fouled out with a minute and a half to go in the regulation time Coach Roy Rowlett did not make a substitution. O'Keefe's Moon, whose floor play also was exceptional, was high man for the night with 15 counters.

Henry Hair sparked Marist as the Cadets surged to big leads over Grady at 17-9 and 24-18 at the first quarter poles. At one time the Cadets boasted a 24-11 advantage. Hub Dowis' field goal as the third period ended gave Grady a 27-26 advantage, however, the Knights' first lead of the night—and Diamond and Bill Mayo shot them from there to victory.

Hobbs To Play For Forty-Niners

ATHENS — Homer Hobbs, 195-pound Georgia guard for three seasons, said last night he has signed to play professional football this season with the San Francisco Forty-Niners of the All America League. Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Hobbs, a native of Lexington, S. C., came to Georgia in 1941 and played freshman ball as a blocking back before entering the Navy. He was an All-State halfback in high school.

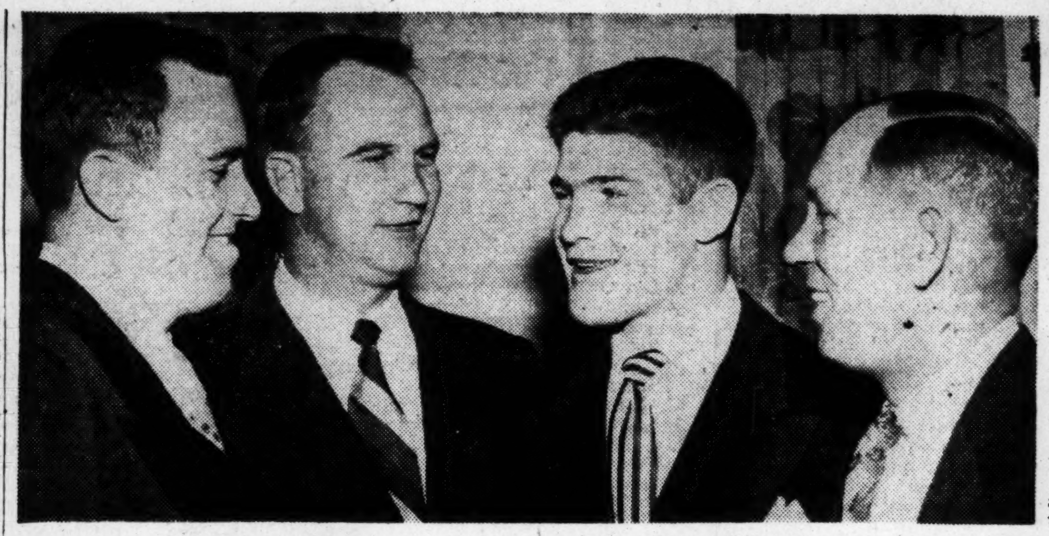

The stocky gridder returned to Georgia in 1946 and played on the Sugar, Gator and Orange Bowl elevens that defeated North Carolina, tied Maryland and lost to Texas in the respective New Year's Day games.

Vandy Grapplers Beat 'Y,' 18 to 17

The Vanderbilt wrestling team defeated the Atlanta YMCA, 18-17, last night on the "Y" mat.

Today, Vandy takes on the Georgia Tech grapplers at the Jacket gym and the "Y" team meets the Knoxville "Y" at the YMCA.

Results:
175-POUND—Steve Burnsed (Y) defeated Emmitt Putnam (V) by fall.
165-POUND—John Massey (Y) and Wilbur Sensing (V) wrestled to draw.
HEAVYWEIGHT—Bill Caldwell (V) defeated Dan McNair (Y) by decision.
155-POUND—Wyatt Martin (V) won by default.

Pep Regains Title In Bloody Fight

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK—(UP)—Willie Pep became the first man in ring history to recapture the world's undisputed featherweight champion when his superior speed and skill won him a unanimous 15-round decision over Sandy Saddler before 19,097 at Madison Square Garden last night.

Pep's amazing speed and elusiveness at times bewildered the slender, hard-hitting Harlem Negro, who less than four months ago had won the 126-pound crown from Pep on a knockout in the fourth round.

The sell-out crowd that jammed the Garden witnessed one of the finest and bloodiest featherweight battles on record. Both men were smeared with blood from face and eye cuts at the final bell.

Saddler, who had Pep groggy on several occasions, tired badly in the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth rounds under the gruelling pace. Realizing that the crown was slipping off his head, he came back desperately in the fourteenth and fifteenth rounds. He had Wee Willie, of Hartford, Conn., on the verge of a knockout in the fifteenth, but he permitted Pep to rally and take the diadem.

Saddler went into the ring favored at 7½ to 5 after a strange see-sawing in the betting price, hammered Pep's face with explosive punches until Willie looked as if he were wearing a mask of ground steak.

But the game Connecticut warrior kept fighting on, although his right eye was nearly closed and he was bleeding from gashes over both eyes and on both cheeks and from a cut upper lip.

Pep was staggered in the seventh, ninth, 10th and 15th rounds, but he never was knocked to the floor. And in most of the other sessions his "painting" left jab, and swiftly following rights—coupled with his elusive circling from side to side —enabled him to pile up the points and rounds that won the fight.

There were no knockdowns during the rough, fiercely contested bout. However, Saddler wrestled Willie to the floor in a neutral corner in the seventh round; and they both wrestled half through the ropes in the 11th.

CLEVELAND LINE COACH RUMORED VANDY'S CHOICE

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—The Nashville Tennesseean said last night William (Bill) Edwards, line coach of the Cleveland Browns, will be named head football coach at Vanderbilt.

The Tennessean says it has also learned that H. E. (Herc) Alley, business manager of the Vanderbilt Athletic Association and former assistant to Coach Henry (Red) Sanders, will be made athletic director.

Decatur Takes Pair From Hapeville

Decatur won a basketball doubleheader from Hapeville last night in the Hapeville gym.

The Decatur girls took a fairly close 30-24 decision but the boys from DeKalb County were pushed to the very limit to take a 34-32 decision.

Jim Harper and David Redford, with 9 and 8 points, respectively, paced the Decatur five, while Crossin with 12 and Johnson with 10 were high for Hapeville.

The boys' lineup:

HAPEVILLE (32)	Pos.	DECATUR (34)
Crossin (12)	F	Fliss (6)
Swicegood (2)	F	D. Redford (8)

Score at halftime: Hapeville 18, Decatur 18.
Substitutions: Hapeville — McGill (2). Decatur—Flesser (2), Porter (1), Stultz.

Hipsher Stars But Canton Wins

MARIETTA — Charlie Hipsher tossed in 23 points to run his total for the year to 446 in 24 games, but it was not good enough to bring his Marietta basketball team a victory over the high-flying Canton Greenies here last night.

The smooth-working five from the Ninth District took a 54-42 decision in a contest that was tied six times and which was only decided in the final six minutes when the roof fell in on Marietta.

Healey Gets 20 Points As Georgia Wins, 63-39

By BOB CHRISTIAN

WOODRUFF HALL, ATHENS—The Georgia Bulldogs turned loose a first-half barrage of long shots that carried them through to a 63-39 victory over the Florida Gators here last night.

It was Georgia's second win of the year over the Gators and their sixteenth win in 23 starts this season.

Captain Bob Healey, who has been in somewhat of a scoring slump, paced the Georgia attack with 20 points. The Bulldog captain looked more like himself, as last year's leading conference scorer, when he hit eight field goals and four free throws.

Little Joe Jordan also, came closer to being the scintillating guard of last season, when he bucketed 15 points and turned in a good floor game.

In addition to displaying a smoother offensive attack, the Bulldogs, for the second successive game held their opponents to 13 goals from a field. Hans Taenzler, Gator center, got five of these buckets, all in the first half.

Georgia was without the services of big Bob Schloss. The Jacksonville sophomore turned his ankle at the end of seven minutes and was forced from the game. Al Fabian took over and turned in a commendable performance until he committed his fifth foul late in the second half.

The Bulldogs meet Florida again tonight in Woodruff Hall to wind up their 1949 relations.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Bill Goodman Signs, All Set for 1949

Condensed from AP, UP, INS Wire Reports

Bill Goodman, the former Atlanta Cracker who was bought by the Red Sox for $75,000, the biggest price ever paid for a Southern Association player, is all set for his sophomore year in the big leagues. Bill yesterday signed his 1949 contract, terms of which he did not disclose.

One of the most popular players ever to go up from Atlanta, Goodman last year broke into the majors just like his many Atlanta admirers had figured—he cracked out a neat .311. Goodman's home is near Concord, N. C.

OTHER BASEBALL—Charley Gehringer, Mel Ott and Hank Greenberg missed Baseball's Hall of Fame when not enough votes could be mustered among baseball's scribes to nominate one of them. . . .In order to join the 55 immortals already in the Cooperstown, N. Y., shrine, a player must get 75 percent of the vote cast. . . . Lefty Glenn Elliott, who won one game for the Boston Braves in their important stretch drive last year, signed his 1949 contract. . . . Owner Fred Saigh, of the St. Louis Cardinals, said of the possible lift of suspensions on the big-league jumpers: "We'd be glad to have the boys back. In fact, last Summer when it first was reported they might be re-instated, we put the question to the Cardinals. All our players had the same idea—that Max Lanier, Lou Klein and Fred Martin had been punished enough.'" . . . Reports from Columbus, Ohio, say that Commissioner A. B. Chandler's office is overhauling the bonus rule, that new regulations are now being drawn and will be announced soon.

BASKETBALL—Big Nine Leading Illinois (6-1) will play Ohio State (5-3) and second-place Minnesota (6-2) engages Iowa (1-5) in tonight's headliners in the Western Conference. . . . Joe Fulks looped home 63 points for a new Basketball Association of America record Wednesday night, but he didn't know he was headed for a new mark until his coach told him after he had 59. . . . Said Joe: "It was just one of those nights. Seems everything I threw up went through the hoop." . . . Pudgy Ray Meyer, who developed George Mikan and has turned out fine basketball teams at DePaul University, signed for another five years. Southwest Missouri, the only unbeaten collegiate basketball team in the country, made it 17 straight by beating Pittsburg (Kan.) Teachers, 43-41.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS — The Toussaint two-mile will share top billing with the Baxter Mile tonight in the Eighty-first New York AC games at Madison Square Garden, but Southern interest will center in the Halpin 880 in which Tom Dickey, Atlanta boy who runs for LSU, will compete . . . Bowling's biggest annual event, the American Bowling Congress, will get under way tonight at 46 alleys in huge Convention Hall at Atlantic City, N. J. . . . Bo Rowland has signed a long-term contract as head football coach at George Washington University. . . The Harbor Bowl football game will go on at San Diego, Cal., next Jan. 1 as scheduled.

Ager-Hardin Win In Badminton Meet

Johnny Ager and Ira Hardin downed DeVaughn and Asa Candler, 15-5, 15-9, and the Mitchell-Carlton-tandem defeated the Rocker-Taylor dou, 10-15, 15-13, 18-16 in the men's doubles features in yesterday's round of the Atlanta Athletic Club's annual badminton tournament. Semi-finals and finals will be played today, opening matches being set for 2:30 p. m.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

40 AWARDED LETTERS

Coleman Named Jacket Captain

By GEORGE TISINGER

Tackle Tom Coleman, 200 pounds of dogged determination, was elected 1949 captain of the Georgia Tech football team last night by his teammates at their own banquet held at the Capital City Club.

Announcement also was made at the dinner of the awarding of 40 1948 football letters, 37 to players and three to managers. In addition, Coach Bobby Dodd presented football rings to team members and also gave them informal team photographs.

Sweaters and letters were not awarded last night as the winners had been announced to the team just prior to the banquet.

The dinner, which is unique in the fact that it is strictly for football players, their coaches and a limited number of sports writers and the wifes and girl friends of those attending, was short and snappy with only one speech being made. This was by Athletic Director W. A. Alexander, who made one of his better talks in congratulating Coleman and the team on the way they play the game.

"It is particularly gratifying for me to see you elect a tackle to lead you in the next season," Coach Alex said. "You have made a fine choice in Coleman. All too often the backs and ends stay in the limelight and get most of the credit without doing too much of the work. But if there ever was a player who has to get in there on every play and take it as well as dish it out, it is the tackle.

"For three years now Coleman has done that job in fine style. He has played every play up to the hilt, And I am sure that he will continue to do so next year as your captain."

Coleman is a 20-year-old, six-foot product of Savannah who modestly accepted his honor.

Coach Alex spoke briefly on the team as a whole, and included remarks on the quality of last year's Tech schedule and gave a hint about those of the future.

"I don't like to schedule games with weak teams, ones you know you can beat. I had rather play teams that are known to be as good as we are and even those known to be better. It does the boys themselves more good that way and that is the way it will be."

As the Athletic Director resumed his seat Coach Dodd added his thanks to the squad for their play in '48 and then presented the awards.

Five regulars were not able to attend. Bill Healy and Jimmy Castleberry were away on business, while Dale Lupton, Colin Anderson and Jim Nolan were away with the basketball team.

Letter winners were:

Action Awaits Five Jacket Teams Today

Georgia Tech's athletic teams will be in full swing today and tonight with five different teams in action. Two of the events are scheduled for the Tech Gym.

The Jacket swimming team, defending Southeastern Conference champions, will be after its fourth victory in five starts this afternoon with Duke as the opposition. The first race is set for 2:30 o'clock. The Jackets have won over Emory, Vanderbilt and N. C. State and lost to North Carolina this season.

At 8:30 o'clock the Tech wrestling team will engage Vanderbilt in a return match, having won decisively over the Commodores at Nashville earlier in the season. The grapplers have broken even in four matches.

Coach Bob Miller will have at least three regulars on the sidelines due to injuries. Joe Basler, veteran 155-pounder, is out for the season with an arm injury; Railey Rhodes, 175-pound entry, is out with a twisted neck, and Heavyweight Clay Matthews, who is undefeated this year, is out with a swollen jaw. The team physician says Matthews either has an impacted tooth or the mumps.

Completing the night's schedule, the Tech basketball team meets Duke at Durham, after which the Jacket gymnastics team will engage Duke and Maryland in a triangular meet. The undefeated freshman basketball team meets Middle Georgia College at Cochran tonight.

The swimming and wrestling meets are open to the public at no charge.

Baxley High Girls Seek 100th in a Row Tonight

By JESSE OUTLAR

Baxley High's Girls, who have already established a State record by winning 99 straight games in regular season and tournament play over a three-year span, will be gunning for their 100th triumph against Nahunta tonight in Baxley.

Bob Davis has compiled a record that should stand for a long time since taking over the Baxley coaching reins in 1938. Over seven seasons—he was in the service for four years—Davis' girls have dropped only one regular season game. That was to Collins in 1942 by a three-point margin.

The current string of triumphs, which should reach a hundred tonight as Baxley trounced Nahunta in a previous clash, started during the 1946-47 season. Baxley won 33 games and a State title that year.

With only two regulars returning last year, Baxley breezed to 39 victories and repeated as State Class B titlist at Macon.

Through last night, Baxley has listed 27 wins to set the stage for the century celebration Baxley tonight.

The classy Baxley sextet has rolled up 1,500 points this season, while limiting the opposition to 500, with reserves playing much of the time.

Mary Johnson, petite forward-guard, has accounted for one-third of the current total and hit for 1,000 points in '47-'48. What makes Miss Johnson's feat even more remarkable is the fact that guards aren't allowed to shoot under girl's high school rules.

Lillie Mae Kersey, Bell Beecher and Johnson all three made all-state last season and have played in every one of the 99 straight victories. Miss Kersey was voted the outstanding player in Georgia last year.

During the three-year victory spree, Baxley has scored 4,800 points, while limiting the opposition to 1,800 and twice during the '47 campaign Baxley went over the 100 mark.

Needless to say, Baxley is a prime favorite to annex its third straight state crown in the annual State meet in Macon.

Davis has never coached a team which lost a tournament, district or State. and it looks as if his record is safe this season.

Players on the Baxley roster—and Davis says they are all stars —are: Jeannette Baxley, Mary Johnson, Nellie Faye Dean, Betty Jo Milton, Joyce Padgett, Lillie Mae Kersey, Jeanelle Branch, Inez Chandler, Nell Beecher Janelle Ham, Ann Swinson, Peggy Cowart, Madeline Fields and Betty Jo Carter.
